

Fisher Body Secures 200 Million Dollar Patton Tank Contract

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army has declared the Fisher Body division of General Motors Corp. successful bidder on a 200-million-dollar contract for "Patton" medium tanks.

Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens said yesterday the General Motors bid was about 12 percent lower than one by the Chrysler Corp. Both motor companies

Counties In Red Under-Assessed, Auditor States

LANSING (AP)—Many Michigan counties which run operating deficits are under-assessing their real estate, Aud. Gen. John B. Martin declared today.

Martin, summarizing county audits conducted by his office, said the number of counties with operating deficits has decreased steadily each year since 1950, falling from 44 in 1950 to 31 in 1952.

But, he said, "Most of the 31 counties with 1952 operating deficits were among those with the lowest county equalized valuations in the state."

Martin said that 10 of the group had valuations of less than twenty million dollars, 14 others had valuations of 50 millions or less, while only seven had valuations in excess of 50 million dollars.

"A comparison of 1952 county and state equalized property tax valuations for these 31 counties revealed," Martin said, "that, in most instances, state valuations were considerably greater than those established by the county boards of equalization."

Martin reported 31 counties had net operating deficits of $7,350,000 while 42 had operating surpluses of $3,300,000.

Detroit Suburb Buses Stay Idle

DETROIT (AP)—Mediators attempted today to get striking suburban bus drivers and officials of the Intertown Suburban Lines Corp. together to consider a 12-cents-an-hour wage increase recommended by a fact-finding panel.

Neither the striking AFL operators nor the company commented on the proposed wage increase which would be retroactive to Aug. 1.

The 316 drivers and mechanics walked out Thursday, stranding 45,000 people in 11 Wayne County communities.

A fact-finding panel appointed by Gov. Williams said it was recommending the wage increase because the bus line's employees are underpaid "by comparison with companies performing like services in the same geographical area."

The company's drivers get $1.72 an hour. Other bus drivers in the area are paid as high as $1.93 an hour.

The fact-finders recommended that the company seek to absorb the wage increases through cutting operating costs, raising the volume of business or seeking fare increases.

Other Countries Pressing U. S. A. For Free Trade

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. government appeared to be under strong pressure today from other countries fiscal representatives to lead the way to convertible currencies and freer trade.

The 55-nation World Bank and Monetary Fund came to the end of an annual meeting, but Reginald Maudling, United Kingdom representative, is staying here until Wednesday. Officials would not comment on Maudling's extended stay, but it aroused speculation that he hoped to learn in private talks with U. S. Treasury officials what help Britain can count on from the United States if she drops restrictions on free exchange of the pound sterling.

Another bank-fund governor remaining after the close of the meeting was Hassen Polatkan, Turkish minister of finance. Polatkan's aims also were undisclosed, but were thought to center about his country's new program to attract private investment, particularly dollar investment.

The governors of the World Bank gathered for a closed meeting at which they were to consider a recommendation from the bank's committee on finance and organization for the possible suspension of Czechoslovakia, only Soviet bloc member of the bank and fund. The committee recommended that the governors vote to suspend Czechoslovakia unless by Dec. 31 she has paid the remaining $625,000 of her capital subscription to the bank.

Michigan Man Named New Chief Of AP Bureau In Moscow

MOSCOW (AP)—Richard R. Kasichke arrived by plane from Berlin today to become chief of the Associated Press bureau here. Kasichke, 41, is a native of St. Joseph, Mich. He has been a member of the Associated Press staff in Germany for the last eight years with the exception of brief periods spent in Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia.

He succeeds Eddy Gilmore, AP Correspondent in Moscow for 11 years, who returned to the United States in June.

Gen. Hull Leaving Pentagon To Take Far East Command

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. John E. Hull, a desk officer for much of his 36-year military career, leaves the Pentagon soon to command troops along the uneasy truce line in Korea.

The tall, strapping Ohioan was named by President Eisenhower Friday to succeed Gen. Mark Clark as supreme United Nations commander in the Far East. Clark retires Oct. 30.

Hull, now 58, has not seen combat since World War I when, as a junior infantry officer, he won the Silver Star for gallantry during the Aisne-Marne offensive.

His World War II years were spent in the less dramatic but vital jobs of handling operations for all the far flung overseas theaters. He worked closely in this work with Gen. George C. Marshall, then Army chief of staff.

Hull became something of an expert on atomic weapons five years ago when he had charge of atom bomb tests conducted at Eniwetok atoll in the Pacific.

He also is given credit for playing an important role in the development of the Army's giant atomic cannon, one of the world's newest and most potent weapons.

For the past two years, Hull has been vice chief of staff of the Army.

McCarthy Defends Use Of Restricted Army Propaganda

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today he plans public hearings designed to show whether he was justified in releasing an intelligence report which the Army had labeled a "restricted" document.

The senator told newsmen the hearing will be held before the Senate investigations subcommittee, which he heads, but he did not say when.

Some Parts Withheld

McCarthy contends he made the report public Wednesday because it contained "cleared Communist propaganda." But the Army said in a statement Friday that McCarthy had withheld sections of the report which made it obvious the document was not Communist propaganda.

Besides, the Army said, releasing any of the report disclosed information affecting national defense "within the meaning of the espionage laws."

Stiff Penalty Provided

The Army statement did not mention McCarthy by name or any plans to try to prosecute him—an action that seemed unlikely in these circumstances. But it said of the document:

"The transmission or revelation of its contents in any manner to any unauthorized person is prohibited by law."

Unauthorized disclosure of material bearing such classifications as "restricted," "secret" and so on is punishable by up to 10 years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

The criticized report was declassified Friday by the Army because of its prior disclosure.

Polish Interpreter Kidnaped By American Army, Official Claims

PANMUNJON (AP)—The Polish member of a four-nation commission policing the Korean truce charged today that a Polish interpreter who fled to freedom was kidnaped by American Army officers and demanded his immediate return.

Jan Hajdukiewicz, a 28-year-old civilian interpreter, broke from a truce inspection team at a South Korean air base Wednesday and was given political asylum by U. S. officers.

The Army won't say where Hajdukiewicz is now. There has been speculation that he was flown either to Tokyo or Okinawa.

Mackinaw City Flight Training Fraud Admitted

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Fines totaling $3,000 and two years probation faced three Monroe residents today. They pleaded guilty in U. S. District Court Friday to defrauding the Veterans Administration in operation of a GI flight training school at Mackinaw City.

Federal Judge Raymond W. Starr fined William Pacitti, former owner-operator of the Straits Air School, $2,000 for allegedly padding bills for flight training. Robert McCutcheon and Mrs. Joan Tesch Swartz, pilots at the school, were fined $500 each. All three were placed on two years probation.

Pacitti was accused of padding training claims $16,404 during September, October and November of 1950. The other two were accused of being accomplices. The trio was indicted last July 31.

Lucille Ball No Red, Solons Find

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Lucille Ball, television's top comedienne, never was a Communist, says the House Un-American Activities Committee, even though she registered as one 17 years ago.

The wide-eyed star of the popular "I Live Lucy" show freely admitted to committee investigator William Wheeler that she registered March 19, 1936, to vote for the Communist ticket "because Grandpa wanted all of us to."

But she emphatically denied ever being a party member or voting for party candidates.

"There is no evidence that Miss Ball is or ever was a party member, Rep. Jackson of the committee told a news conference Friday night.

Jackson explained he called the conference at the behest of a majority of committee members so that rumors implicating Miss Ball, 42, with communism could be scotched.

If the rumors hadn't become widespread, he added, it is unlikely the committee would have made the disclosures, since it had known for several years of Miss Ball's registration.

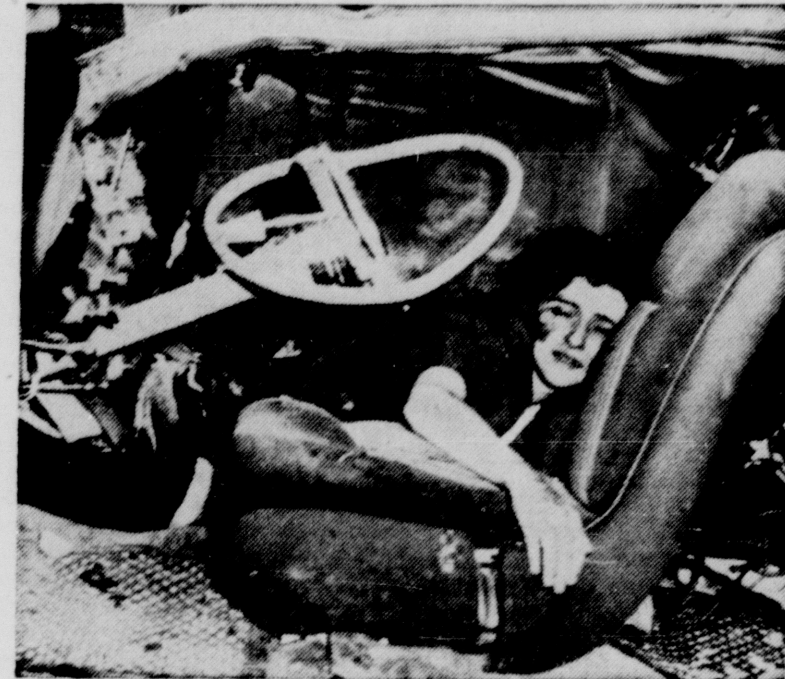

Jackson said that there is some question as to whether Miss Ball ever voted the Communist ticket, but added that this point will be cleared up today with the release of the transcript of her testimony before Wheeler.

Suspected Forger Pushes Luck Too Far

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—A 26-year-old forger suspect pressed his luck a little too far.

Officers said the man gave a department store cashier a worthless $15 check or buy a cheap hat Thursday. He received several dollars in change.

Friday he returned to get a refund on that hat. That's when detectives took him to city jail.

Guerrilla Surrender Ends Bloody 4-Year Battle In Colombia

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—A bloody night 1,500 guerrillas surrendered this week to armed forces Commander Brig. Gen. Alfredo Duarte Blum in the Eastern Plains district around Monterrey. Earlier, 600 gave themselves up at Tauramena, according to the newspaper el Espectador.

Most of the guerrillas were Liberal party politicians and sympathizers. They began their battle in 1949 after accusing the Conservative party of trying to intimidate them in a presidential election won by former Chief Executive Laureano Gomez. The Liberals boycotted the voting.

A former Liberal acting as intermediary said the surrendered units made up 95 per cent of the dissident force. He added that their chief, Guadalupe Salcedo, who ordered the surrender, had promised he would try to send in the remaining stragglers in the next few days.

Ore Vessel Aground East O. Marquette; 9 Adrift On Barge

(Special To The Daily Press)

MARQUETTE (AP)—Buffeted by high seas and winds over 40 miles an hour, the ore carrier Maryland with 35 men aboard ran hard aground at 10:05 a. m. today on the Lake Superior shore three miles east of here in the first general storm to hit the Upper Lakes this season.

The carrier, the Bethlehem Steel line, was making her way toward Marquette for a cargo of ore when she turned broadside in the seas and was driven onto beach by strong northeast winds.

Coast Guardsmen and State Police from Marquette were called out to stand by the ship. Seas were too heavy for the Coast Guard to attempt rescue by small boats launched from their station at Marquette harbor.

A. P. Goodrow is captain of the 530-foot Maryland, which loads a cargo of about 11,000 tons of ore.

clung to a barge adrift in wind-lashed Lake Superior today, ripped from the tug George Purvis by seas that hampered a Coast Guard cutter and nearby ships rushing to their aid.

The ore-carrier Maryland was beached by the heavy seas three miles east of Marquette, as Coast Guardsmen hurried to help her 35 crewmen.

Two helicopters from Traverse City, Mich., flew to where the barge was adrift. They were joined by the cutter Woodrush, the tug Pontiac, and the freighter Alva C. Dinkey.

The Purvis managed to pull six of an original crew of 15 from the barge, but rising seas made further

Rita Turns Down Aly's Million To Support Daughter

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Rita Hayworth Friday night turned down Aly Khan's divorce settlement—described by her attorney as involving approximately one million dollars—for support of their 3½-year old daughter Yasmin.

"Nothing will make me give up Yasmin's chance to live here in America among our precious freedoms and habits," the film star told the Associated Press.

Her attorney, Bartley Crum, said previously that Moslem Prince Aly had attached two conditions to the million-dollar offer: (A) Yasmin was to be exposed to Moslem teachings when she is seven and (B) the child was to be brought to Europe two or three months each year.

Rita said today: "While I respect the Moslem faith and all other faiths, it is my earnest wish that my daughter be raised as a normal, healthy American girl in the Christian faith."

Cornfield Crash Kills Navy Pilot

VANDALIA, Ill. (AP)—A Navy fighter plane flying through a storm plunged into a corn field about 10 miles northeast of here Friday night, killing the pilot.

The plane, returning to Lambert St. Louis Air port Navy Air Station from Norfolk, Va., where the pilot had been training with other members of a squadron based here, exploded as it struck the ground.

Navy officials identified the pilot as Ens. Homer Archer Hollingshead, 24, of Springfield, Ill. They said he was a fighter pilot but had not been on active duty since July, 1952. He joined the Naval Air Reserve squadron last January. He planned to enroll at the University of Illinois this fall.

The crash occurred on the farm of Harry Williams, about 70 miles northeast of St. Louis. Mrs. Williams said she heard an explosion during the storm and saw flames shoot up from the field several hundred yards from their house.

Democrat Big-Wigs Gather In Chicago For Political Rally

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's Democratic leaders headed for Chicago today for their first big political rally since the 1952 national convention.

Some 2,000 party leaders were expected to attend the two-day round of conferences, public meetings and dinners on Monday and Tuesday. National committee spokesmen said Democrats from every state except Maine and Vermont will attend the big rally.

Highlighting the Monday program will be a $18-a-plate fund-raising dinner, with the top party leaders listed as speakers. They include former President Truman, Rep. Sam Rayburn of Texas, House Minority Leader, Senators Douglas of Illinois, Gillette of Iowa and Sparkman of Alabama, the party's 1952 vice presidential nominee, and Adlai E. Stevenson, the party's 1952 presidential nominee.

The Tuesday night feature will be a speech by Stevenson at the Chicago Opera House. The speech will be aired by the National Broadcasting Co. television net and the four major radio chains from 8:30 to 9 p. m. (CST). The former Illinois governor will report on his recent world tour.

Wage Boost Granted 3,500 Oak Ridge Atom Plant Workers

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP)—A seven-cent hourly wage boost, recommended by President Eisenhower's atomic labor panel, went into effect today for 3,500 AFL atomic plant workers here.

The compromise proposal was accepted Friday by representatives of the Atomic Trades and Labor Council and Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Co., which operates the plant for the Atomic Energy Commission.

The union originally had sought 10½ cents and Carbide had offered five. With negotiations apparently stalemated, the workers struck July 27 but returned to work two days later when the dispute was turned over to the panel.

This was the first strike of production workers in Oak Ridge's 10-year history.

Under the agreement, hourly scales will range from $1.58 for laborers to $2.56 for technicians.

Egypt Sues Aga Khan

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—The Egyptian government is planning to sue the fabulously wealthy Aga Khan for 500,000 pounds ($1,445,250) charging the Moslem religious leader failed to build promised apartment houses on a 40-acre plot he bought in Cairo in 1946.

Files List 600 U. S. Clergymen As Communists

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP)—Once-secret charges that Communists successfully infiltrated American churches today were spread in open files of a congressional investigation.

One witness said 600 U. S. clergymen are "secret" members of the Communist party and three to four thousand others are in "the fellow-traveling category."

The House Un-American Activities Committee, which resumes its sessions late this year or early in 1954, made public the detailed testimony Friday.

Success Surprising

It came from former active Communist leaders and told of how the Reds, unable to destroy religion by frontal assaults, bored from within to seek their goal with the aid of unwitting dupes and pawns.

One witness, Manning Johnson of New York, said not even the Reds themselves expected to achieve the success he said they realized.

Another, Benjamin Gitlow of New York, testified: "In the infiltration of the Methodist church, the Communists were highly successful."

A third, Joseph Zack Kornfeder of New York, called the fifth column plan "rather effective."

Johnson was described as a Communist from 1930 to 1940 and a member of the party's national committee from 1936 to 1938; Gitlow as a top U. S. Communist leader from 1919 to 1929, and Kornfeder as a Communist from 1919 to 1934.

Some Catholic Laymen

They testified last July at committee meetings in New York. The meetings, not open to the public, were called ostensibly to investigate communism in the New York area. However, the hearing transcript disclosed the subject of communism in religion was considered exclusively.

Sabre Jet Lost In Chicago Area

CHICAGO (AP)—Coast Guardsmen searched in Lake Michigan today for an Air Force F86 Sabre jet fighter plane believed to have crashed Friday night during a thunderstorm.

A second plane of a flight of four from George Air Force Base, Victorville, Calif., crashed on a farm about 35 miles southwest of Chicago. The pilot, 2nd Lt. Rudy J. Koch, 23, of Cincinnati, who bailed out at 10,000 feet, suffered a sprained left ankle.

The two other jets landed safely at O'Hare Field, northwest of Chicago near suburban Park Ridge.

Koch said all four planes, which had stopped at Lowry Air Base, Denver, yesterday afternoon, were low on fuel as they ran into a thunderstorm near Chicago.

Spokesman at O'Hare said they could not say definitely that the missing plane crashed in Lake Michigan but it was "possible."

Democrats Planning Drive For Repeal Of Taft-Hartley Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Murray (D-Mont.) said today a new drive for outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act may be the Democrats' answer to Eisenhower administration discord over labor policies.

Chairman H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) of the Senate Labor committee expressed regret and surprise over Drugin's resignation Thursday. Smith said in a telephoned statement he had "understood that conversations would continue to the end that a labor program might be developed and legislation prepared for introduction in Congress early in January."

Sen. Hill (D-Ala.), another Labor Committee member, said he regards Drugin's resignation as indicating that the Eisenhower administration is "not going to come up with any modification of the Taft-Hartley Act that will satisfy labor."

IF REA Makes Loan:

Electric Co-op Offers Power At 'Reasonable' Rate To Escanaba City

Prospects are "good" that the REA will approve a loan to the Alger-Delta Electric Cooperative Association for construction of an electric generating plant with sufficient capacity to provide surplus power to meet Escanaba's needs for a 10-year period, Wynand Nieuwenkamp, Electric Cooperative manager, told the Escanaba City Council in special meeting Friday afternoon.

Nieuwenkamp appeared at the request of the Escanaba City Council, which sought additional information in connection with a proposed 10-year power contract with the Alger-Delta co-op if the Rural Electrification Administration in Washington approves the Electric co-op's application for a $4,350,000 loan for construction of the proposed generating plant.

"It looks to me that the loan will be approved," Nieuwenkamp said. But he emphasized that "I have no assurance in writing" that the loan would be made but was hopeful following recent meetings with REA officials.

REA Chief Consulted
The whole electric power shortage picture in the Escanaba area was placed before Alan Nelson, new REA administrator appointed by President Eisenhower, at a recent conference of electric cooperatives at Mackinac Island.

J. H. Cunningham, Chillicothe, O., Mead Corporation controller; E. G. Bennett, manager, and R. H. Sogard, plant engineer, Escanaba Paper Company, a Mead subsidiary, explained to Nelson the necessity for developing new sources of electric power for the area.

(Escanaba, Gladstone and the Alger-Delta Electric Cooperative purchase power generated by steam at the paper mill and water power from the Escanaba River. The supply is limited. The Mead Corporation desires to "get out of the power business" and expand paper making operations here.)

Promise 'Reasonable' Rate
Mead Corporation officials have urged Escanaba to find another power supply since it does not want to renew with the city a power contract which will expire in 1959.

Following the conference at Mackinac Island, REA Administrator Nelson visited the Gladstone-Escanaba area and left Gladstone by train Thursday night. Nelson promised that Alger-Delta's loan application to REA will be processed as fast as possible and approved or rejected as fast as possible, Nieuwenkamp said.

If the loan is approved, Escanaba will be asked to enter into a 10-year contract as a power customer of the Alger-Delta Electric Cooperative. Nieuwenkamp assured the Escanaba City Council yesterday that rates would be "fair and reasonable."

Council Interested
"The Mead Corporation has offered standby service," Nieuwenkamp said. "We can build and operate two generating units in the new plant. In this way we can bring to this area the lowest possible power rates," Nieuwenkamp declared.

Through a power-pool, with Mead Corporation, Cleveland Cliffs and the proposed Gladstone generating plant sharing standby service, there is little prospect of power failure in any emergency, he added. Cleveland Cliffs and Gladstone have both offered to cooperate in such an arrangement, Nieuwenkamp said.

Escanaba City Council expressed interest in the proposed 10-year power contract with the Alger-Delta cooperative but delayed action until REA approves or rejects the loan application.

Mayor Robert E. LeMire told Nieuwenkamp:

"If you can build a plant and supply Escanaba with power at a fair and reasonable rate, guaranteed for a 10-year period, I believe you will find the city will certainly go along with you."

The City Council assured Nieuwenkamp that it will act as promptly as possible on a proposed contract when—and if—REA makes the loan to finance the electric cooperative's generating plant.

Weather Takes Sudden Turn

Cold weather blew in to Escanaba this morning on a 27-28 m.p.h. wind which reached perhaps 40 m.p.h. in brief gusts, shaking treetops and turning the bay white. The temperature dropped to 46 at 8:30 a. m., said S. E. Decker, U. S. Weather Bureau meteorologist here.

Decker said a storm warning was issued for the Great Lakes this morning at 6. The warning, first of its kind in several months, remains in effect 24 hours. Winds on the lakes of 30-38 m.p.h. were forecast.

Temperature this afternoon will probably reach the mid-60's, Decker predicted. Tonight it will go to a low of 42-45. Today will remain cloudy on the whole, and so will tomorrow. There will be a few rain squalls or drizzles, which won't amount to much.

The meteorologist commented that, in contrast to Escanaba, some parts of the United States were still hot. Burns, Ore., had a high of 94 Friday afternoon, equaling its high mark for this late in the season.

Record low on this date over the past 83 years was a temperature of 34 in 1923. High was 82 in 1889.

Schedule Meetings On Naturalization

Francis W. Reed, officer in charge of the immigration and naturalization service of the U. S. Department of Justice in Sault Ste. Marie, has notified County Clerk William Butler that he will be in the county clerk's office Friday and Saturday of next week to file naturalization petitions and handle miscellaneous matters, the county clerk's office said this morning.

Reed will be in the clerk's office, in the County Courthouse, Friday, Sept. 18, from 2 to 4 p. m., and Saturday, Sept. 19, from 9 a. m. to 12 noon.

"Any persons desiring information or assistance in immigration or naturalization matters may call on me there during those hours without appointment," Reed wrote Butler.

High Winds Keep Ore Boat In Bay

High winds this morning kept the Tomlinson lines' ore boat, the Ball Brothers, out in Little Bay de Noc while the Cleveland Cliffs' Steamer Marquette was loaded for South Chicago.

The Ball Brothers, scheduled to load for Detroit, did not anchor between the two docks for fear winds would push it against timbers.

The wind, which reached 40 mph in gusts, caused the Ball Brothers to drift and necessitated using the propellers occasionally to bring her back.

Four other boats were scheduled to be loaded at the docks here today, bringing the total of boats putting in here this week to 17.

Lee McMillan, dock agent, reports this is lower than usual, because no boats were loaded Labor Day.

Terrorism Flares Up In French Africa

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP)—New violence flared today in troubled French Africa. Persons identified as Nationalists shot and seriously wounded Gen. Salah Toumi, a police inspector, in Tunisia.

It was the latest of a series of assassinations and attempted assassinations of pro-French Tunisian officials. Several have been killed.

French colonials called on the French resident general in Tunisia to take strong action to wipe out what they called Nationalist terrorism.

Lake Survey Ship Finds Obstacles To Shipping

The U. S. Lake Survey Ship Williams, which ties up at the city dock each weekend as a breather from its regular task of taking soundings on Green Bay, spent two months this summer doing "sweep jobs" at two widely separated points on the Great Lakes, to see if there were uncharted obstacles on the lake floor, F. W. Robison, civil engineer in charge, said.

Harvey Hodge is captain of the Williams.

The sweep jobs were done in the approaches from Lake Superior to the head of the St. Mary's River, and also from Lake Huron to the dredged channel leading to the St. Clair River. In a report of the summer's work which Robison has prepared, he said the sweep jobs were needed "because the new, larger and faster bulk carriers have reported striking or rubbing submerged objects" in the two places.

On the strength of the summer's findings, Robison said at least three more sweep jobs are probable next summer.

An Old Sidewheeler The St. Clair River job was just north of the Lake Huron lightship, which Robison noted is the last lightship on the Great Lakes. The Williams swept an area of about 12 square miles, and found two previously uncharted obstructions and one small shoal area.

The most interesting obstruction, Robison commented in his report, was the wreck of what a diver thought to be an old sidewheeler. This was located less than one mile from the lightship and practically on the upbound course. There was a clear depth of only 22 feet over the highest portion. Great Lakes ships are loading to about 25 feet, Robison noted.

In the St. Mary's River, a boulder was located which projected up to a point 22 feet below the surface. The boulder was 100 feet from the upbound course. Army engineers examined the boulder and found evidence that ships had struck it, Robison stated.

The Williams also found a shoal area and a wreck in the St. Mary's River area. Wire 2,000 Feet Long "The boom" we use for sweeping is a horizontal wire 2,000 feet long," Robison said. The wire is strung between the Williams and a smaller boat, at a specific depth. From this horizontal wire, at intervals of 100 feet, vertical wires rise to the surface, where they connect to unstable floats.

The Williams and its companion ship tow at a speed of one m.p.h. When an underwater obstruction engages the horizontal wire, the floats react and tell what has happened. The Williams arrived in Escanaba last May to take soundings in Green Bay during the summer. The sweeping jobs came up unexpectedly, and the ship left June 22, returning to Escanaba Aug. 21, Robison said. He expects the Williams will be here until late October, taking soundings from Chambers Island north.

The Williams has a crew of 23 officers and men. Though it is owned by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, its crew is entirely civilian. An Escanaba boy, John Cloutier, son of Mrs. and Mrs. John Cloutier, 809 3rd Ave. S., worked on the Williams as a porter until he went into the army in mid-July.

Report Child Bitten — Michael Nordin, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Nordin, Old State Road, was bitten by a dog owned by David Touzel, Old State Road, according to Escanaba police who investigated following a complaint. The owner has been advised to keep the dog tied for 10 days for rabies observation.

MESC Hours — The Escanaba office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission will not be open from 5 to 6 p. m., on Wednesdays, after Sept. 16, Whitney R. Dixon, branch manager, reports. Because of low volume of claims, need for this extra hour has diminished, Dixon said. The Escanaba office is open from 8:15 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., Monday through Friday and remains open on the noon hour. Individuals serviced by itinerant points from the Escanaba office are requested to notify the office immediately if they are not able to report at the itinerant point because they have returned to work.

Tax Books Balanced With One-Cent Check WEST SENeca, N. Y. (AP)—A one-cent check has balanced the million-dollar tax account of this town near Buffalo. William H. Wershin, the receiver of taxes, wrote the check to correct a shortage in his $1,233,354.84 collections. County Treasurer Frank A. Slade had informed him his returns showed only $1,233,354.83. For 24 years, Wershin had balanced his books to the penny. He mailed Slade the one-cent check, using a three-cent stamp.

Second Pipeline To Cross Straits

ST. IGNACE—The second phase of the Straits of Mackinac pipeline operation is scheduled to begin with the laying of cable.

This operation which will take approximately ten days will enable the contractors to pull the second four mile section of 20-inch pipeline underwater in much the same manner that the first was accomplished.

When the two 20-inch lines are in place they will be connected on each side of the Straits to a 30-inch line running from Superior, Wis. to Port Huron then across the St. Clair River to Sarnia, Ont. where refineries are located.

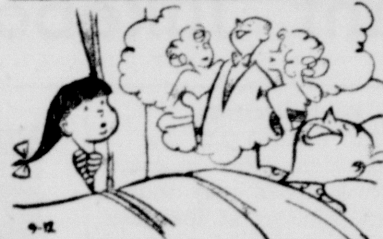

When the necessary two inch cable crossing was completed last month, contractors Merritt-Chapman and Scott, and other sub-contractors were able to complete the job of pulling more than four miles of pipe across the Straits in less than a week.

Durkin Appointment As Labor Secretary Was Eisenhower Error

THE resignation of Martin P. Durkin as secretary of labor in President Eisenhower's cabinet ends a marriage that had little chance for success from the outset. President Eisenhower, new in politics, erred in the appointment of Mr. Durkin, an error that the late Senator Taft promptly said publicly was "incredible".

Mr. Durkin was and is a Democrat. He

Sell Bay Frontage For Home Construction

THE City of Escanaba is confronted with a perplexing problem concerning whether to sell bay shore frontage on Lake Shore Drive near the athletic field or whether to retain possession of the land.

This area has developed into choice residential property within the past few years and some of the most attractive homes in the city are now located in that area.

It is apparent that the city would not desire the property for park purposes because of its limited size. It is now used for parking purposes for football games at the stadium but there is ample parking space elsewhere in that area and on land that lacks the inherent value of this property.

A row of homes immediately opposite the athletic field may tend to spoil the glorious view that football fans seated in the stadium now get of the lake but that seems inconsequential. After all, there are only four or five football games a year played at the stadium and those who attend go to watch the football game. The scenic beauty is only incidental.

The property is valuable as residential building sites. There is a demand for the property and we believe that the city may well sell the land and utilize the additional tax revenue that it will bring when modern new homes are constructed there.

If the land offered generous opportunities for recreational development, that would be a different matter but it does not because of its limited size.

Words, Wit & Wisdom

By William Morris

Question: Last night I ran across the phrase "pie wagon" in a detective story. It doesn't seem to mean an ordinary baker's delivery cart. Please explain.

Answer: You are to be commended on living such a sheltered life, far removed, no doubt, from all association with police or lawbreakers. "Pie wagon," as used in detective fiction, most assuredly does not mean a baker's cart. It is the slang term for police patrol wagon—the big black trucks used when a number of prisoners are to be rounded up. It is also sometimes called a "paddy wagon" or the "Black Maria."

Cambridge, Mass.: In your recent note on "googol"—the word which means the numeral one followed by 100 zeros—you should have added that a "googolplex" is a googol to the googol power.

Question: What is the word for the sign &?

Answer: This is called the "ampersand," from the phrase "and per se and" or by itself means "and." The character is believed to have originated as an abbreviation of the Latin "et" meaning "and." It is pronounced AM-per-sand.

BOP-TALK REACHES ALL LEVELS DEPARTMENT: This is still a bit hard to believe but I saw it and heard it just the other day. Our three-year-old, sitting high in his "junior" chair at lunch, was watching the new gray kitten playing with the lariat dangling from the chair arm. (All cowboys in our house "put up their gear" before sitting down to the table.) After watching the kitten roll over and over, playing with the dangling end of the rope, the lad observed: "Dig that crazy mixed-up little kitty-cat!"

'Stand, Therefore'

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
"Stand, therefore." This is Saint Paul's exhortation to the Christians at Ephesus (Ephesians 6) after he had urged them to "put on the whole armor of God," so that they might "withstand in the evil day, and having done all, stand."

That Paul should have seen the Christian life as warfare is not to be wondered at. His whole course was beset with enemies and persecutions.

No man, apparently, was more indomitable in spirit, yet Paul reveals that with all his stoutness of heart he had conflicts within. He speaks of "a messenger of Satan to buffet him" (II Corinthians 12:7).

He speaks of his weakness, though in this weakness he found strength through depending on God. "My grace is sufficient for thee: for my strength is made perfect in weakness. Most gladly therefore will I rather glory in my infirmities, that the power of Christ may rest upon me."

To the Christians, to whom Paul wrote, life was also a warfare. They may have been free from the most serious persecutions that beset Paul, but they were subject to persecution.

There were hazards in being a Christian. The days, as Paul says, were evil (Ephesians 5:16). The pagan environment was hostile and full of temptations of the flesh and of the spirit.

Paul is insistent upon the Christian warfare, and, like a great military leader, he is deeply concerned about preparation, was president of the AFL plumbers' union when he was selected by Mr. Eisenhower as secretary of labor. The President apparently felt that he could woo organized labor into support of the Eisenhower administration although labor bosses generally had been on the Democratic side of the political ladder.

Mr. Durkin obviously was pressured vigorously from his union leader friends to use his influence for drastic revision of the Taft-Hartley labor act. Mr. Eisenhower himself favored some revision of the T-H act but not emasculation, as the union leaders desired. As a result, it was inevitable that sooner or later there would be conflicts affecting Mr. Durkin that ultimately would force him to resign as secretary of labor. Since his background primarily was that of a labor leader, it is understandable that he took the side of the union bosses in the issue building up concerning revision of the Taft-Hartley act.

Mr. Eisenhower was not elected President of the United States on a platform advocating emasculation of the Taft-Hartley act. On the contrary, the preponderance of his supporters favored the T-H act in principle.

The real mistake was made when President Eisenhower selected Mr. Durkin to be secretary of labor. It was a mistake predicated upon political inexperience and one that Mr. Eisenhower may well have avoided had he listened more attentively at that time to more seasoned politicians.

MISUSE OF PROPERTY (Iron Mountain News)

Misuse of private and public property, not only by marauding vandals but by young people and others who are privileged to use such property, is getting to be an old story, here and elsewhere. But the ugliness of the practice in no way improves with age, and the enforcement agencies, including our legislators and the courts, are finally beginning to take notice.

Two of the major bills passed by the last Michigan legislature are very much to the point. First, parents of juvenile vandals are now liable for civil damages up to $300, and second, violating rules in public parks are punishable as a misdemeanor.

It is high time, we think, that the parents of youngsters who persist in damaging private or public property be made at least partially responsible. Prior to the new law, parents could not be held responsible for such damage by their own youngsters, and more often than not, according to reports, they stoutly resisted any efforts to collect.

Similarly, sponsors of public parks—mostly cities and counties—have previously had little or no recourse for damage to these properties. Too often, the offenders can not even be identified, and even on the rare occasions when they have been caught, they have generally escaped with a reprimand—to go back and do the same thing over again.

It is bad enough that anyone could be so unappreciative as to willfully cause the damage; it is worse that they are seldom called to account for it. Now there are some laws, and they should be utilized to the hilt in an effort to curb vandalism everywhere in the state.

Questions and Answers

Q—Can movie stars still escape income tax payments on their earnings abroad?

A—Not completely. A law enacted by the first session repeals the complete exemption enjoyed by Americans (movie stars and others) who work overseas for 17 months of an 18-month period. The new law exempts only the first $20,000 of such overseas earnings.

equipment, indoctrination and rousing words of inspiration and encouragement.

And in all this his own example is never lacking. That is a quality of great leaders. George Washington, fighting in the very forefront with his poorly equipped troops, exemplifies this quality.

What men like Washington have been in material warfare Paul was in the warfare of the spirit, fearless, undaunted, no matter what the odds.

Is the Christian life still a warfare today? It is a significant and important question.

Hostile forces and temptations are no less real, though they may seem less evident and more subtle.

I think it may be said that we do not think of the Christian life as a warfare as precisely, and as much, as it is set forth in New Testament days.

But I wonder whether this may not be because we lack something of the vision that inspired Paul and the early disciples; that we do not see, as they did, the need of warfare, with the call of duty and the call to greatness.

An eminent English preacher, the late Sylvester Horne, once wrote a little book on "The Life That Is Easy." He described the Christian life.

But Horne himself was a fighter, and he wrote of that life as easy only through mastery, completeness of commitment and the sort of strength that Paul found made perfect in weakness.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower has enjoyed his Colorado vacation so much that he plans to spend as much time as possible away from Washington between now and the first of the year. He will continue to handle major problems, but when possible from the distance of Augusta, Ga., where the new winter White House is nearing completion.

The President has several important trips scheduled for the fall, and between these trips he hopes to divide his time between Washington and Augusta. Being away from Washington he finds has the advantage of discouraging the steady stream of callers who bog him down with routine matters which he believes can be handled just as well by subordinates. Also his doctors have urged him to take as much time off as possible from the pressing burdens of the Presidency.

Finally Ike wants more time to concentrate on major problems. He has frequently complained to intimates that the red tape surrounding the job of being President was so burdensome that he never had time to think.

At the moment, some highly important problems face the President which will require not only concentrated thought, but a multitude of conferences with others. Some of them have been awaiting his return from Denver. Some, which cannot wait, have already been placed before him in Denver.

Here is a summary of the major policy problems requiring decision — problems which only the President himself can handle:

RUSSIA'S POSSESSION OF THE H-BOMB

Though we expected them to get the hydrogen bomb sooner or later, none of our scientists expected the development to come so rapidly. This fact has considerably upset American timetables, may completely upset Eisenhower plans for cutting the Air Force.

The President had on his desk before he went to Denver a draft of a speech on the hydrogen bomb in which he would have warned the world and the American people of the horrors of hydrogen warfare. At first it was decided to pigeonhole this speech. White House psychological adviser C. D. Jackson, among others, feared it would terrify the American people.

But, since this first decision, the Russian announcement came that they had the H-bomb and now Ike has changed his mind. He will deliver the speech after all—sometime this fall. It has already been written and rewritten 15 times, and is still undergoing more revision. Even so, the 64-dollar question is not being answered: "What can the United States do to prevent hydrogen warfare?"

One draft of the speech contained a proposal that Russia join us in outlawing the H-bomb. But in more recent drafts this came out—on the grounds that no agreement with Moscow is worth anything. And so far the 64-dollar question still remains unanswered. This is the biggest problem facing the President.

RECESSION CLOUDS

White House economic advisers have been warning the President that, despite optimistic statements from the Commerce Department, business is not good. There is a tremendous backlog of merchandise piling up in warehouses and on department-store shelves. Buying power has slumped. Business psychology is not encouraging, and in July factory hiring reached the lowest rate for that month since July of 1949.

Ike's economic advisers fear that defense cutbacks came too suddenly and are cutting too deep. They don't like the looks of the clouds on the economic horizon. So far they haven't come up with any specific remedies other than the New Deal cures of public works, and both Ike and his advisers are loath to trot them out. In private talks, the President has frankly warned that the country has got to take its deflationary medicine, that it won't taste good, but it will be necessary.

FARM HEADACHES

While these started well before the business worries from defense cutbacks, they are related and the effect is similar. Farm prices have now dropped 12 per cent, while the prices farmers must pay have increased recently 1 per cent. On top of this came one of the worst droughts in recent farm history. All this has caused belt-tightening in rural areas. And when farmers don't buy, city populations suffer.

The President has left this baby solely in the hands of his hardworking, hard-praying Secretary of Agriculture. As a military man, Ike doesn't pretend to understand farm problems, makes a wry face when he talks about them. He remembers the time he told a delegation of cattlemen that if he put price supports under beef, he would have to put them under dairy products—only to be reminded that they were already under dairy products. So Ezra Benson will have to wrestle with the farm headaches pretty much by himself.

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Escanaba—An early frost did thousands of dollars worth of damage to crops in the area. The potato crop was particularly hard hit.

Escanaba—"This is the Army," a movie starring Kate Smith, Irving Berlin, Joe Louis and many other notables, was slated at the local theatre as a benefit program for war relief.

Manistique—PTA officers elected at a recent meeting are Mrs. Clarence Chase, president; Mrs. Harold McNamara, vice president; Mrs. Thor Reque, secretary and Mrs. Earl Jewett, treasurer.

20 YEARS AGO
Escanaba—Earl Germaine, Escanaba mining engineer who spent three years in Russia, addressed the Rotary Club concerning his experience. The common people in Soviet Russia, he said, are not in sympathy with the regime there, but are controlled by secret police.

Natural Bridge In Virginia 'Giant Jukebox Of The Gods'

By WADE JONES

NATURAL BRIDGE, Va. — (NEA)—By night, this heavenly hunk of rock looks and sounds like a giant jukebox of the gods. It has all the simple charm of a Coney Island shooting gallery. People love it.

Each year some 300,000 of them come from every state in the union and go to see the bridge like they would go to an evening movie—at 8, 9 and 10. They pay the same way—$1.20 for adults and 60 cents for children.

What they see, seated at the bottom of a black and mighty slant up over 200 feet at the bridge, is an astonishing production of the 20th century entertainment world.

Booming eerily through the dark chasm from loudspeakers are, alternately, the recorded voice of someone describing the creation of the earth; choral groups singing; John Charles Thomas singing; chimes chiming.

At the same time 36 spotlights bathe the bridge in constantly changing colors. All this blends with the roar of big trucks crossing the Bridge right over the chasm on U. S. Route 11, the twittering of scores of birds kept from their sleep by the noise and lights, and the eternal whispering of little Cedar Creek, which has taken several million years to carve out this stone wonder. Some people are a little overwhelmed by it all.

That's what happens at night. You can also go in the daytime. It's not nearly so overwhelming, but it's easier to look upon the bridge unemotionally for the wonder that it is.

Millions and millions of years ago the chasm was entirely roofed over. Cedar Creek was an underground river, wearing patiently away at the solid limestone rock. One day the roof caved in, all but the part that now forms Natural Bridge. This left the gorge carved out of solid rock with walls from 200 to 300 feet high and tiny Cedar Creek at the bottom.

The bridge now is 215 feet from the creek bed, 90 feet long from chasm wall to chasm wall, from 50 to 150 feet wide, and about 40 feet thick.

Thomas Jefferson bought it and 157 acres of land from England's King George III for 20 shillings (about $5) in 1774. Earlier George Washington, surveying it, climbed up 23 feet and carved his initials on the stone wall beneath the bridge. You can still see the "G. W." and a surveyor's mark alongside.

Along about 1803, shortly after he became President, Jefferson realized the commercial possibilities of the bridge and stationed a Negro on it to lower people down in a basket with a rope and pulley arrangement. The arrangement was that the trip down was free, but the upward haul cost $1.00. You can still see the iron stake the rope was tied to.

The dollar sign has been a bridge symbol ever since. It has been owned by 13 different individuals and private companies since 1774. Today it's owned by a corporation with 451 stockholders and business was never better.

Last year the gross take was $1,104,000 from sales of bridge tickets, from the four hotels and motels, and from souvenirs.

As a partial cushion against anything, going wrong with this limestone mint, the corporation has taken out a $1 million policy against the bridge's wearing down to less than 5 feet thick. If it got that thin the corporation figures it would have to pay the people to go down in the chasm under it.

Things have gone wrong here from time to time. In 1943, at the height of the war, three soldiers in a truck careened off the bridge one midnight when they failed to make the curve on Route 11 leading onto the span.

Cedar Creek is only about 2 feet deep now. But one midnight in 1950, a rainstorm in the nearby Blue Ridge Mountains shot its level up 17 feet in two hours as water bottlenecked in the narrow gorge. No one was injured, but it took $35,000 to repair the damage to walks and benches.

Good Evening...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

GOING BACK—One of America's major railroad lines has come out with a bit of advice from one of its conductors. The advice is designed to benefit college students who will travel (by train, of course) back to the campus.

The conductors tell the young men and women how they will make friends on the train, what they will pay for food on the diner, and that they should take a robe along so they can cover up while dashing from the berth to washroom on the sleeper.

This is all very well for those who travel by train—but what about those uncounted thousands who return to school by other methods?

There is, for example, the hitchhiker. Someone should bring out a book on the correct techniques of thumbing rides, how to make yourself agreeable when picked up, and how to avoid paying for your host's lunch, gasoline and oil when you stop at the nearest town.

MAJOR PROBLEM—For the student who is hitching his way back to college the first and most vital problem is a sure-fire method of stopping cars.

After talking with one young man who has achieved more than a fair degree of success in acquiring free transportation to and from school, we learned the following:

First—Be sure to make a neat appearance. Keep hair combed, and either wear horn-rim glasses or a letter sweater. Note: The letter sweater is to be preferred, which indicates the popularity of athletes over scholars.

Second—Show a friendly smile to all as they drive up. Be the big brother type. Let your personality shine through—but hide your bigger pieces of luggage in the bushes until a car stops.

Third—Don't just stand with thumb pointing in the direction you want to go. Make that all-important thumb work for you. Wiggle it, raise it, lower it, keep it in motion. Use it to wave a joyous greeting or flash a distress signal as the mood prompts.

THE PRIVATE CAR—Another method of reaching the campus with a comparatively small outlay of cash is to go with friends.

This is done usually by previous arrangement. If Joe's parents are taking Joe down to school, call up Joe and very bluntly tell him that you are going along.

Tell him you will share the expenses—but don't tell him what expenses. Once on the way you can always keep pleading with Joe's father to stop because you want to treat everyone to an ice cream cone and that night they will treat you to dinner.

There are certain rules of courtesy to be observed, however, if you want to be welcome another time.

Do not talk about how you and Joe are going to "make out" with the girls, or put your feet up on the back of the front seat behind the driver, or indicate that you know a place where you can obtain beer for a Saturday night party.

WITH PARENTS—Often on that first trip to college at least, the student has little choice in his method of transportation. Mama and Papa are right there with the family auto and plenty of advice all the way from home to the campus.

Before the young hopeful has an opportunity to make even a minor decision in his new-found freedom the decisions are made for him. And he is told how to conduct himself in school, what to eat, to wear, to say and even when to be in bed on "school nights."

This is indeed a frustrating situation for the young man or woman, particularly if the parents insist on going to the dorm or rooming house and making "friends" with their son's roommates. Should the parents be of the non-coddling type they can provide the transportation if they wish, but discreetly limit their time around the campus. Junior will breathe a sigh of relief when they are gone and he is—at last—on his own.

THE SERIOUS SIDE—Whatever the means of arriving at school the student will, if he is sincerely interested in making his college life profitable to himself, adjust to his new schedule as quickly as possible.

For this reason it is well for parents to prepare their offspring for a life of independence, since over-solicitous parents are a handicap to a youngster.

So the ride to college can be an important event in the life to the young man or woman who will be away from home for the first time. Arrival at school is the beginning of a new and exciting period of life.

Powers-Spalding PTA Opens Meetings For School Year

POWERS-SPALDING—The first meeting of the Powers-Spalding PTA was opened by the president John Fazer Jr., Tuesday evening at the Powers-Spalding High School. Seventy parents and teachers were present.

The introduction of the year's teaching staff was stressed. This was accomplished by a clever skit based on role-playing with each member of the teaching staff taking part, representing personalities in a school situation with two teen agers in trouble and their parents, supervisors and members of the families battling to save their reputations. Each teacher was introduced to the parents as she was given her role in the skit.

The program was enjoyed by an enthusiastic audience. It was in charge of Mrs. Evelyn Collins, hospitality chairman.

Mrs. Ray Casimer, program chairman, led a discussion of the report card system used in the elementary grades. Parents and teachers took part in the discussion. Mrs. Harland Hanson discussed the merits of a new type of card which included a combination of grades and an analysis of social behavior. Following this a questionnaire was presented to everyone. The results of a vote cast showed that a change is desired. A representative of the PTA was appointed to attend the next meeting of the Board of Education and present the results.

Plans were made for a card party to be held at the next regular meeting of the PTA, Oct. 13, with proceeds to go to the hot lunch for the purchase of needed equipment.

The adjournment of the business meeting was followed with the serving of refreshments.

Mrs. Isaac Maki has returned home following a two day visit with her sister, Mrs. Rauli Aho of Manistique.

A first purchase in every home should be a step-stool or step-ladder. A chair or table used as one (or a rickety step-ladder) can cause a nasty fall.

Religious Art Program Will Be Given At Bethany

Miss Larson had her art training at Bethany College in Lindsborg, Kan. During the last 20 years, she and her sister, Elvira, have conducted more than 800 programs, presenting Christian art produced as their audience watches.

Commenting on the program, Robert Linstrom, summer student at Bethany, said, "This is one of the most inspiring and best received programs of this type that I have ever seen. In their home territory they always bring their message in art to filled churches."

Augustana Lutheran churches in this area, Bark River, Gladstone and Escanaba are joining in sponsoring the program. The public is cordially invited.

Vinson Buried At Louisa, Ky.

LOUISA, Ky. (AP)—The nation's great and the obscure crowded into this small town Friday to attend funeral services for Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson.

After a simple 19-minute ceremony, the body was buried on a hill overlooking the big sandy valley he had called home.

Loud speakers were set up in the town square for the benefit of those unable to get inside the Louisa Methodist church, where some 600 heard the Rev. Charles Perry read from Joshua 1:2:

"Moses, my servant, is dead; now therefore, arise, go over this Jordan, thou, and all this people, unto the land, which I do give to them."

All but Justice Frankfurter of the Supreme Court attended as honorary pallbearers.

Kentucky officials who attended included Gov. Lawrence Wetherby, former vice president Alben W. Barkley and Senators John Sherman Cooper and Earle Clements. Gov. W. C. Marland of West Virginia, Rep. Sam Rayburn (D-Texas) and Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell also were present.

In addition to Mrs. Vinson and their two sons, Fred and Robert, the family was represented by 200 relatives.

Vinson died in Washington Tuesday at the age of 63.

Price Of Case Beer Going Up Oct. 1; Labor Costs Blamed

CHICAGO (AP)—Increases in the wholesale price of case beer were announced Friday throughout the country. How much more the drinker will pay remained indefinite.

The Pabst Sales Co. set the price rise pace effective Oct. 1. The National Beer Wholesalers Assn., representing some 2,000 distributors, reported the increase to wholesalers average 14 cents for a case of 24 12-ounce bottles.

Brewers besides Pabst who are raising prices, the association said, are Schlitz, Anheuser-Busch, Ruppert and Ballantine. All blamed the boosts on increased labor costs arising from recent strikes and demands of workers who did not strike.

State Fair Breaks Attendance Records

DETROIT (AP)—Attendance figures at the Michigan State fair were wiped off the books again Thursday when 39,696 patrons passed through the gates.

The fair, which ends Sunday, has attracted 588,823 spectators—109,600 more than on the same date last year.

A team of roan Belgium geldings, owned by Fowler Brothers of Reading, captured the heavy-weight division of the horse pulling contest. The team, weighing 4500 pounds, dragged a 4000-pound load 17 feet 5 inches.

St. Louis Area Jolted By Minor Earthquake

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A minor earthquake rumbled in the St. Louis area Friday causing widespread alarm among residents but only minor damage.

Windows rattled, dishes shook and canned goods fell from grocery shelves. A few cases of cracks in plaster were reported. St. Louis University reported a "very minor earthquake lasting a very few seconds."

School officials estimated the center of the disturbance near Cahokia Creek, three miles west of Edwardsville, Ill., and anywhere from five to 15 miles below the surface.

Train Gets Game

MICHIGAN, Mich. (AP)—Sportsmen scratched a deer and a bear today from their list of targets for the 1953 hunting season.

The deer tried to race across railroad tracks ahead of a speeding train. He didn't make it.

A bear, feasting on the deer's carcass, refused a shot while later to give the right-of-way to another train. He will not be around to get shot at, either.

Thieves Like Bibles

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—The book that commands, "Thou shalt not steal," is the one most frequently stolen, City Librarian James E. Gourley reports.

According to Gourley, six to eight Bibles are missing from his shelves every year. "And," he adds, "that seems to be the experience of libraries all over the country."

DOCTOR ACTS EFFECTIVELY. WINOOSKI, Vt. (AP)—Opening night of a comedy at St. Michael's Playhouse was threatened recently when three players and the director became ill with head colds. BIG BEAR—Shown are three hunters from Hermansville and Vulcan who killed this 350-pound black bear Friday morning. Willard Grondine, left, first saw the bear Thursday night on his Hermansville farm. Friday he picked up his two buddies, Richard Bedford, center, of Vulcan, and Steve Lacoursier of Hermansville. They met up with the bear in Frenchtown, back of Grondine's farm, and Bedford shot him with a 30-30. Bedford said they will skin the bear and make a rug. The three friends maintain a hunting cabin together. (Daily Press Photo)

Federal Sales Tax May Be 1954 Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democratic National Committee's official magazine stakes out a federal sales tax as a cinch to be a major issue in next year's congressional election campaign.

The October "Democratic Digest," third issue of the monthly publication since it switched to pocket-size format, said President Eisenhower will have to make the final decision on whether to propose a sales tax.

The only alternative to a sales tax, it said, is a "sharply unbalanced budget, contrary to all administration pledges." The decision it asserted, "will be a political, not an economic decision."

The magazine said a sales tax—opposed by past Democratic administrations and now being studied by the Republicans—would tax spending and therefore fall most heavily on lower income families.

The committee announced today that Republican farm policy will be considered at a forum next Tuesday in Chicago in connection with its 1953 conference there.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, forum chairman, said in a statement accompanying the announcement:

"We want to be sure that every 'golden promise' made by the Republican candidate and his party last fall is laid on the table and examined. . . . Farmers have a right to know, after every campaign, what happens to political pledges, and the Democratic party is glad to meet the responsibility of criticizing constructively every time it finds a pledge is broken."

Hurricane Weakens Off Atlantic Coast

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The season's fourth hurricane weakened in force today as it spun 120 miles north-east of Bermuda into the Atlantic.

Named Dolly for the fourth letter of the alphabet, the hurricane was centered near latitude 33.3 north, longitude 63.3, West at 4 a.m. (CST) today.

It apparently was continuing to wing away from the U. S. mainland.

The Weather Bureau said Dolly has weakened considerably and highest winds are now estimated at hurricane force (75 miles an hour) in squalls just east of the center. Gales extend outward 175 miles in the eastern semicircle.

Search For Tax Dodgers Halted

WASHINGTON (AP)—A halt has been called by Revenue Commission T. Coleman Andrews to any new house-to-house canvasses in search of tax dodgers.

But in issuing this order Thursday, Andrews called for a full report from revenue agents on results to date and public reaction to door-knocking campaigns already started.

Such programs began in New England and Nebraska and spread with variations elsewhere. There has been some criticism that they amounted to "snooping" invasion of the people's privacy.

Anderson last month denied any such intention or effect. He said his men were told to be courteous, impartial and helpful. He said no taxpayer reluctant to talk would be harassed.

As to results, Andrews said 8,000 New England taxpayers were questioned in two days and 1,150 were found to be delinquent. He said the 258 agents worked at a salary cost of $10,250 and collected $242,000 in back taxes.

Revenue officials said reports so far indicate the campaigns have been well received generally, although there have been a few complaints. They said field reports will be weighed to determine whether the personal canvass is paying off in tax collections and whether public reaction is so unfavorable it should be discontinued.

rescue attempts futile.

The Purvis was reported near the Canadian shore not too far from her home port, Michipicott Island, about 50 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie.

The Coast Guard said the Dinkey would pump oil on the waters to quiet the seas around the stricken barge.

Marquette Lakeshore Drive was closed to traffic as the waves carried inland.

BLOW AT ESCANABA

At Escanaba winds 30 to 38 miles an hour today delayed ore shipping. The winds will diminish to 20 to 30 miles an hour tonight, according to Weather Bureau forecasts.

The Str. Haggerty of the Canadian Steamship Lines cleared at 7:30 a. m. for Hamilton, Ont., after completing loading an hour earlier. The Str. Marquette was loading today while the Ball Brothers and Phillip Minch were an anchor off the docks waiting out the blow.

Storm warnings for the Upper Lakes were hoisted at 6 a. m. today in the first strong winds to hit the region for the past two months.

New Iron Ore Cargo Record Set Thursday By Carrier E. P. Weir

SUPERIOR, Wis. (AP)—The largest cargo of ore—21,057 tons—ever to be loaded at the head of the lakes cleared port here Thursday bound for Cleveland, Ohio.

The huge load, carried by the E. P. Weir, a vessel constructed only last year for the M. A. Hanna Lines, represented 368 railroad car loads of ore. The Weir arrived at the Great Northern docks at 1 a. m. Thursday and headed out into Lake Superior six hours and 20 minutes later.

The old record for the head of the lakes was a cargo of 21,013 tons taken on by the Wilfred Sykes Aug. 26, 1952.

No Dust-Bomb Yet, Scientist Declares

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Secret atomic research conducted here for 2½ years involves "the absorption of radioactive elements by plants." University of Arizona scientist in charge says.

Earlier, newsmen had quoted Dr. Wallace H. Fuller as indicating his work on radioactive strontium might be used to produce a powerful "dust bomb" that might cripple food supplies for a nation.

But Fuller later issued a statement which said:

"As far as I know the dust bomb is nonexistent and no dust bomb has ever been planned or produced."

He has been working under contract to the Atomic Energy Commission.

Bean Harvest Now Completed At Hermansville

HERMANVILLE — The bean run was completed this week at the Herbert A. Nieman, colorado-age plant. About 875,000 pounds of beans were frozen since the operation started July 20.

The Hiawatha fur farm at Hermansville was converted into a processing plant for freezing fresh green beans. These beans are later shipped to Nieman's main plant at Intienville, Wis., where they are mixed with other frozen vegetables which Nieman is marketing under the firm's name "Garden Spot."

Nieman's conversion of its silver fox farm into a fresh bean freezing processing plant has given Menominee County bean growing a boost since Nieman started three years ago. The Nieman Company has a sizeable investment at Hermansville, and converted its freezer plant into a bean freezing operation.

The Nieman operations are in charge of Irving L. Suterland, former supervisor of Meyer township. Suterland went out into the field and succeeded in interesting farmers in bean growing so well that this summer he had about 200 acres under contract.

The Nieman Company expects to pay about $60,000 for the beans. The company employed about 90 persons, mostly women, in preparing the beans for freezing. At the peak of the operation, three shifts of 30 persons each worked around the clock.

Bear Family Visits Section Crew

SCHAFER — Thursday, while the Soo Line section crew members were busily at work in the Eustis area, a family of bears—mother, father and three cubs—crossed the track about fifty feet from where the men were working. The men paused in their work and watched the unusual parade in silence, being very careful not to disturb the animals as none of the members of the crew was armed.

Files List About 600 Clergymen As Reds In America

600 clergymen in the United States who are "secret" members of the Communist party. He said between three and four thousand others are "among the fellow-traveling category." Many more, he said, were duped into aiding Communist fronts, but "the temporary sympathizers will fade out."

In the Catholic church, Kornfeder said, the infiltration "is mainly among laymen." He commented that Communists "had some experience trying to line up the Catholic priests and, well, something unusually happened pretty quickly. . . ."

Chairman Jenner (R-Ind.) of the Senate internal security subcommittee revealed yesterday that his group had information of "an effort to establish a Communist cell in Catholic organizations."

Jenner cited testimony given here in June by two witnesses described as "active participants" in such an attempt. Senate sources indicated the try at Catholic subversion was made some 10 or 15 years ago and failed.

In testimony before the House group, Kornfeder named Harry F. Ward, former professor at Union Theological Seminary, New York, as leader of a plan to communize clergymen through the Methodist Federation for Social Service. This is an unofficial organization not connected with the Methodist church.

In New York Friday night, Ward denied the testimony about him as "completely false."

3 Bedrooms In Charming 'Davenport'

Rooms Six
Bedrooms Three Closets Six
Cubage: House 22,200 ft.
Garage 6,300 ft.
Dimensions 61' x 38'

Comfortable, neat and attractive, "The Davenport," introduced today by the Home of the Week Plan Service, is a charmingly modern three bedroom house. Both inside and out "The Davenport" is designed for the typical modern family that prefers informal living and entertaining.

Measuring 61' x 38', "The Davenport" has a cubage of 22,200 feet; cubage of the garage is 6,300 feet. At least an 85 foot lot would be required to build the house plus the garage. "The Davenport" can be built fairly near to the street or roadway without in any way diminishing the overall exterior charms of this house. Simple landscaping is suggested, and a combination finish lends itself most attractively to the architectural style of "The Davenport."

In keeping with one of the most popular of the newer trends in interior home planning, the kitchen is located at the front of "The Davenport." Compact and carefully planned as a work center, the kitchen doesn't contain sufficient room for a breakfast nook. Since the dining room is connected directly to the kitchen, however, the absence of a breakfast nook presents no meal serving problem to the housewife.

Reached through the door in the back wall of the dining room is a good sized porch which you can screen in and use as a Summer dining room if you so desire. Install a French door on the doorway and you'll enjoy that much more light in your dining room.

In the long living room the fireplace in the back wall and the bay window in the front wall share the decorative spotlight—

IN THE HOME WORKSHOP

The type of garage illustrated with gable roof is probably the easiest structure for the amateur carpenter to make. When he finishes building this garage it should be only a short step to doing a small home with varied roof lines and other structural features. A pattern is useful, of course, to both the amateur and professional builder as it provides dimensions throughout as well as cutting guides for rafters and other members. Pattern 393 illustrates exactly how the experienced builder would go about the job of erecting this garage. The design provides the usual width for a car and ample space for bench and working area. Price of pattern is 25c. Address your order to—with each feature helping to make this room the attractive one that it is. The long expanses of unbroken area along the left and right wall of the room facilitate the arrangement of large furniture pieces.

All of the bedrooms in "The Davenport" enjoy excellent lighting and cross ventilation. There is a large closet in each room, too. Located conveniently near to the bedrooms, the bath is large enough to contain both a tub and a built in shower.

In "The Davenport" the laundry should be located in the basement; it should be placed under the kitchen or bathroom. The heating plant can be installed under the living room.

Australian Aborigine Rids Self Of Beard

SYDNEY (AP)—One Pound Johnny, the Australian aboriginal whose bearded face appears on the 2 shillings 6 pence Australian postage stamp, has shaved off his beard.

One pound Johnny lives on a central Australian cattle station 160 miles west of Alice Springs. Alice Springs people say he is shaving as a disguise to avoid autograph hunters next time he visits town. Since his face first appeared on the stamp two years ago Johnny has received hundreds of letters, some from the United States.

His boss Bill Waudby at the Mount Wedge cattle station bought Johnny an ink stamp pad to meet requests for his signature—his thumb print.

League Of Women Voters Takes Firm Place In Civic Activities

Can a woman's organization survive without serving lunch at its meetings?

The local League of Women Voters appears to have stood the test of luncheonless meetings with remarkable success and provided a positive answer to the old question.

Besides not serving lunch, the League program concerns itself with the study and action upon legislation, informing the public upon voting issues, and performing services to increase public interest in elections and the machinery of democracy. This follows the platform of the national parent organization.

Since the formation of the group in the fall of 1951, the local chapter of the League of Women Voters has even won national honors for its voters' service work—an American Heritage Foundation special citation for outstanding performance in the local League's 1952 "Get-Out-the-Vote" campaign.

Brought Out Vote

From across the nation 50,000 entries poured into the New York headquarters of the American Heritage Foundation following the biggest election year in U. S. history. From those entries for national recognition of voting records and other "Get-Out-the-Vote" projects 360 awards were given to cities, villages, counties, states, and organizations. Besides the local chapter, two of the largest and oldest Leagues of Women Voters in Michigan also won awards: the Grosse Pointe League and the Birmingham League.

The Escanaba League received special citation for its campaign in the 1952 primary election in August. Previously, primary elections drew out only 12-15% of the registered voters. By using a contest between the men and women as a human interest appeal, tagging and counting each voter at the polls with appropriately colored "I voted" tags (red and white for women and blue and white for men) the percentage of voters increased to over 53% of registered voters.

Because of the renewed interest in elections, a record 88.6% of registered voters was attained in the November general election.

Aroused Interest

In the two years since its formation the local League has had a successful "Get-Out-the-Vote" campaign, a pre-election party for new voters, and a candidates meeting for a school board election.

The pre-election party was a combination social and educational program to encourage first voters to feel informed on election procedure, ballot issues, and democratic processes. It was held a week before the general election in November, 1952.

For the school board election of 1953, the Escanaba League invited all the candidates to a meeting to acquaint the public with them personally. Each candidate was given a list of questions in advance and was informed of the time limit on the answer. The questions concerned themselves with the candidates' views on teacher salaries, building expansion, school board property, and curriculum.

League of Women Voters at Meeting

The meeting was well attended and the interest brought out a record vote for a school board election.

Study Community

In addition to this, the program of the local League the first year was a "Know-Your-Town" study of local government, first for the members to acquaint themselves with Escanaba, and then to make this information available to the community.

The local chairman of the "Know Your Town" item has compiled and edited the material for a booklet to be published this fall. Material included will be a historical background, social, service and welfare organizations, structure of government and other pertinent information not included in the booklet published by the City Council.

Although the new group concentrated its activities on local levels, it also built a foundation of study to participate in the state and national programs of the League of Women Voters. The state subjects for study are tax structure and child welfare, for which the state League has suggested plans of action.

The national program has been a study of the United Nations, the reciprocal trade agreements, and federal budgetary procedures.

Non-Partisan Service

How does this organization obtain funds to carry on these extensive public service activities?

Membership dues are only three dollars a year, so that all interested women may join. It does not carry on a public campaign for funds. Nor does it accept donations from industrial plants, political parties, or any politically affiliated groups. Instead it goes directly to public spirited men and women to ask for help.

Members and non-members are asked in a personal contact to assist in the non-partisan, non-sectarian public service that this unique organization renders. The fall program began Sept. 10. The organization is operated on a strict democratic basis so that each member is a participating unit.

Membership has increased so that two units, a daytime and an evening group will be formed to encourage small discussion groups. This gives each member a better chance for full participation in the League program.

Action is the keynote of the League. League members and all other citizens are urged, as individuals, to take an active part in their government and in the political party of their choice.

The League itself may take action on governmental measures and policies in the public interest, but it neither supports nor opposes any political party or candidate.

Flight Training Worth Effort, Says Rock Man

ROCK—It takes many years of schooling and many hours of flying to become a commercial pilot but it is well worth the effort, says Erick Riekkola, 29, Rock High School graduate.

Erick Ilmari Riekkola was born July 3, 1924 at Ishpeming. His parents, Mrs. Sulo Pajula and the late Ilmari Riekkola, moved to Rock when he was very young. He attended both elementary and high school in Rock, graduating with the class of '43.

Upon graduating, Erick entered the service in June as a member of the United States Army Air Force. He attended specialized aviation school at the University of Alabama. Among the various places he was stationed during service include, Rockford, Ill., Madison, Wis., Miami, Fla., Tuscaloosa, Ala., San Antonio, Tex., Houston and Victoria, Texas, Gulfport, Miss., and Fort Sheridan, Ill.

To Aeronautics School In March 1946 he received his honorable discharge from the Air Force. His interest in aviation had increased to the extent that he decided to make it his career. He continued going to school for two more years under the GI program.

He entered the Spartan School of Aeronautics in June of the same year, at Tulsa, Okla., graduating two years later, in June, 1948. During that time he obtained a commercial pilots and a flight instructors rating, a ground school instructor rating in meteorology, navigation, aircraft, and engines, and an aircraft and engine mechanic rating.

From September of 1948 until November of 1950, he was employed at Northland Flying Service, Northland Airport, Quinnesec, Mich. He worked in the capacity of a flight and ground instructor and as an aircraft and engine mechanic.

In June of 1951 he was employed by Green Bay Airmotive, Austin Straubel Field, Green Bay, Wis., where he worked as a flight instructor and did charter work.

Returned to School

July of 1951 took Erick to the Ford Airport, Iron Mountain, where he was employed as the chief pilot, instructor for single engine land and sea planes, and the pilot for passenger and ambulance flights.

Erick still felt that he could learn more about aeronautics, so in May of this year, he returned to Spartan School of Aeronautics at Tulsa, for an additional two months of schooling. He graduated on July 11, with an instrument rating.

At present Erick is employed as a co-pilot on a Lockheed Lodestar. His executive flying takes him to many states. A schedule of several weeks ago included a trip to Chicago, Milwaukee, Marquette, Hibbing, Minn., and Cleveland, Ohio.

Some days he goes to work at 6 a. m. and other days it is noon before he has to report to work. He never knows when he will be home, but he feels that he is getting a lot of experience because he is able to put his recent schooling into practical use. His mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. Sulo Pajula are still residing west of Rock. When a plane goes over, they often wonder if it would be Erick on one of his many flights. His present home base is at Iron Mountain.

Not Flattered At Band Comparison

PITTSBURGH (AP) — William Martin, manager of the Pittsburgh Symphony, tells this story which happened in Schenectady, N. Y.:

A rehearsal was scheduled for a movie theater and at the last minute Martin learned the orchestra would have to be gone by 12 noon. Martin pleaded for more time. But the theater manager was unmoved. He said:

"We're very proud to have the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra and Conductor William Steinberg with us. But even if it was Phil Spitalny and his All-Girl Orchestra, I couldn't do it."

Is going to church a thing of vital importance in your life?

Florence Fuhrman, housewife,

318 N. 12th St. "Well, that would be yes. Because I think it's needed. It's very beneficial to people. Everybody should go to church. It brings up good people and — I can't express it the way I mean it — it brings up good religious people. If there were no churches I don't know what this world would come to — what it would be."

Thelma Hendricks, entertainer, Delta Hotel: "Definitely. There's security — it gives one a proper feeling of belonging. And giving the feeling of well-being. I don't believe in anyone being compelled to go to church — it's the feeling of wanting to go. You feel it's a drudgery then... and that is not the right attitude."

Mrs. Andrew Robare, works at Liquor Control Commission, 701 Montana Ave., Gladstone: "Oh yes, definitely. I think it should be to every right-minded individual. I suppose it's because I was raised in a family who attended church — were quite conscientious. I went to a parochial school. It's just been a part of my daily living, that's all."

Mrs. John Peterson, housewife, 524 S. 15th St.: "Yes, it makes life a lot happier. We surely need it in homes... I think it keeps homes together, going to church. I think it's good for everybody. I think it offers comfort. I think you need it too, nowadays. I think with children in the home, when there are Sunday School teachers, it brings them up better. They don't start to smoke and drink. It keeps them busy with work and things — choir."

Raising And Marketing Gladiolus Is Substantial Delta County Industry

Delta county today supports an impressive industry which was started almost by accident over a quarter of a century ago.

In 1926 a farmer found some gladiolus bulbs in an alley in Gladstone which he took home and planted. They grew into beautiful flowers so the man took a few bunches to the farmers market to sell along with his other produce. He sold a few dozen gladiolus that first year and in the fall tried to sell some of the bulbs which he brought to market in a pail. He sold a dozen bulbs the first year and about five dozen the next.

Seeing the possible future market for bulbs and flowers, the Berg brothers from Brampton have increased the number of gladiolus every year until today when they have a four acre plot of gladiolus on their farm on M-35, two miles south of Brampton. Now the usual load of flowers taken to market on Wednesdays and Saturdays is a hundred bouquets.

Olsons Enter Business

A patch of grass which seemed to be a favorite nesting place for some snakes at the Al Olson summer home on the Escanaba River a mile north of the Gladstone bridge started the Olsons raising gladiolus. Mr. Olson announced to his wife one day that he had bought 300 gladiolus bulbs and that he was going to spade up the patch of "snake grass" and plant them.

The results were so remarkable that the Olsons decided to be extravagant and spend $10 on bulbs the following year to get some known varieties. Today the Olson's gladiolus are spread like a brightly colored patchwork quilt over half an acre.

Mrs. Olson chats happily with visitors and shows them through her plot easily giving the names of the more than 200 varieties growing there and pointing out her favorites.

Sibole Is Largest

The largest of the Delta County growers is the Sibole nursery of Brampton which entered the industry in 1934 merely as a sideline. Now their yearly acreage ranges from five to twelve acres and the number of bulbs runs well over a million.

Siboles market their blooms in Escanaba, Marquette, Ishpeming, Manistique and Munising.

All three growers ship their bulbs out of the state. Berg and Sibole put out a yearly catalog listing their bulbs which are very popular in the southern states. The Michigan gladiolus seem to be more resistant to disease and are harder due to the cooler climate.

Gladiolus range in color from white and pink to deep reds and purples. Other shades of yellow, green and even blue glads are grown.

Most people prefer mixed bouquets of deep colors for their table but white is still the popular color for weddings. One grower reports that one variety called Gloaming, a purple flower with a white blotch is the most frequent choice of policemen in uniform.

Men Prefer Smokies

Men in general seem to prefer smokies, a group of pastel shades with no definite color, but rather a soft shading of several hues which blend into one another.

Grey Summit is the most popular masculine choice with a deep red called Black Opal second.

The recent wave of hot weather which made many people in the area very uncomfortable and gave them that wilted feeling, did exactly the same thing to the gladiolus. The hot weather causes the stems to grow crooked and uneven. Some of the plants bend over like rows of buggy whips. The hot sun also scorches the tips of the buds which have not yet opened and spoils the flowers.

Wind is another enemy of gladiolus growers, for a windstorm could level an entire crop in a matter of minutes.

Deer have grown very fond of gladiolus in recent years. George Berg said that the animals will pass up everything in the garden in preference to the gladiolus which they eat, usually at night. The deer eat hundreds of bouquets every year. They have not as yet settled on a favorite color but eat at random, sometime devouring every flower of a particular variety.

Bulbs Are Inspected

The gladiolus must be sprayed frequently against blight and bugs. Thrips, a tiny boring worker, is the most common attacker of gladiolus both in the field and in storage. Dipping in a chemical solution usually rids the bulbs of the pests.

Rigid state inspections are carried out twice a year, once in the field and once in storage. Only inspected bulbs may be shipped out of the state.

The floods which swept through Holland this year have greatly cut down on the number of bulbs exported from that country. Australia is another country from which U. S. growers buy many of their bulbs.

The Barbara Berg is a peach colored gladiolus with a red throat which was developed by the Berg brothers about 14 years ago. This mid season variety was four years in development. The bulbs have been sold primarily in California and Wisconsin.

Planted in May

The Sibole contribution to the gladiolus world is called the Bay de Noc. It is a needle pointed, slightly ruffled variety with a pale opalescent cream color with a faint rose blotch. It blooms in mid season.

The gladiolus are usually planted beginning the first week in May. Other plantings are made periodically through the end of June to insure a constant supply of blooms throughout the season which lasts till about a week after the first frost.

The early varieties will bloom about 70 days after planting and the late ones in about 80 to 85 days.

In the fall the bulbs are dug, sorted, cleaned and stored in the bulb house. The temperature is maintained between 40 and 50 degrees throughout the winter and the humidity is controlled.

A bouquet of gladiolus will keep its freshness for about a week after it is cut if properly cared for. The water should be changed daily and a half inch piece of the bottom of the stem cut off.

Pulaski Park Near Bark River Popular Picnic, Camping Ground

At Entrance of Pulaski Park

Since its formal dedication a year ago, Pulaski Park near Bark River has become a popular picnic and camping spot for both local residents and tourists.

A large number of people have found the cool shade of the park an ideal spot to relax and munch a picnic lunch.

A gravel road winds through the five acres of birch and maple past neat grey picnic tables and benches. The cooking units vary from small raised grills to a large army cooking range. Others are rustic brick fireplaces with built in warming ovens. Neatly stacked near each of the stoves and fireplaces is a supply of firewood.

There are swings for the younger children and a large open field for baseball and other games. Pumping water, which was considered a tedious chore in grandma's day, seems to delight most of the youngsters who come to the park. Many tourists and campers spend a night at the park sleeping in their tents or trailers. Others stop to prepare a meal before moving on, or just to get a cool drink of water.

The Escanaba Daily Press was the largest single group to hold a picnic at the park. Many other churches, Sunday schools, clubs and youth organizations hold their picnics and gatherings at the park.

Picking up broken glass after the weekend picnics is the biggest headache of keeping the park in order, according to Oscar B. Erickson, caretaker. Most people are neat about the park but there are always a few messy ones, he added.

Plan Improvements

Signs have been posted to protect the trees from people who have strange fascination for peeling the bark from birch trees.

Some of the trees have been stripped bare for several feet up the trunk.

The township park board plans to improve the park in the future by thinning out the trees and leveling off the rough spots. About 40 balsam and cedar trees, have already been transplanted from the natural groves to the more sparsely wooded areas near the park entrance.

The park is named after Casimir Pulaski, the Polish noble who became a general under Washington during the American Revolution. Pulaski was killed during the siege of Savannah.

The land for the park was given to the Bark River township by the Pulaski Club, a group of residents of Polish extraction.

It is hoped that Pulaski Park will someday be incorporated into the Michigan State Park system.

Local Croatian Union Plans 60th Anniversary

The local lodge of the Croatian Fraternal Union of America will be 60 years old next year.

Paul Vardigan Sr., 1302 N. 18th St., organized the lodge to help his fellow countrymen who had recently immigrated to this country from the Slavic countries.

Many of these people could not speak English and were further handicapped by a lack of education. Mr. Vardigan, with the help of local educators, organized night classes and aided 400 of his countrymen to obtain United States citizenship.

Hall Built in 1900

Realizing the need for a permanent meeting place, the Escanaba Union built the present Croatian Hall at 1416 Sheridan Rd. in 1910. The I. Stephenson Lumber Co. at Wells, where most of the Croatians were employed, helped in the building.

The hall is still the meeting place and center of many Croatian activities. Many young Croatian couples have held their wedding dances in the hall.

Strict immigration laws which have curtailed the expansion of the union, were partly offset in 1924 by the formation of an organization for junior members called the Nest. Mrs. Mary Maric, of 1514 N. 16th St. heads the nest of 74 members.

To qualify for membership in a Nest one must be under 16 and have at least one Slavic parent.

The Croatian Union is not in politics and supports no party or religious controversy among its members. It is exclusively a beneficial and fraternal organization.

Aids Distressed Members By dues and assessments the union provides for care of its members who are in distress. A children's home for those who have lost one or both of parents is maintained in Des Plaines, Ill.

The strict Americanization program encourages members to become citizens and promotes national and moral sentiment. The aims of the organization are in harmony with the laws of the United States.

Zajednicar, the official Union newspaper, is printed half in Croatian and half in English. The paper is strongly American and accepts no political advertising.

"The Heart of Jesus" was the name which Mr. Vardigan, the founder gave to the lodge. The present membership is 130 members.

Mirko Skradski, of 1431 Sheridan Rd., president of the Escanaba lodge, has served in that office at various times since its founding, once for a period of 20 years.

Other officers include: Nick Cronch, vice president; Paul Vardigan Sr., secretary; and Steve Marvic, treasurer.

MANISTIQUE

To Buy Limited Supply Of Cones

The Michigan Department of Conservation will purchase a limited supply of red (norway) pine, white pine and white spruce cones in the Manistique area this fall, starting immediately, it is announced by Carl Makel, district forestry supervisor.

Prices paid will be $6 for white spruce and red pine per standard bushel and $2 for white pine per bushel.

Cones must not have been picked prior to Sept. 10 and must be still closed tight so that no seed has escaped. Hot weather in the fall sometimes opens cones while they are still on the trees and seed is blown out by the wind, Makel said.

Amounts less than a full bushel will not be purchased because of difficulty in handling, the forester stated.

This program is being carried on to furnish seed for nurseries at Higgins Lake and Manistique. Cash will be paid to cone pickers if the seed meets the required specifications. Persons having five or more bushels of the species to be purchased may have them picked up by a department representative.

Persons desiring further information are requested to contact Makel.

Two Injured In Crash Thursday

Two persons were injured in a two-car auto accident at 8:15 p. m. Thursday on US-2, three miles east of the Manistique city limits.

Hurt were Florence Mary Drum, 41, of 2920 West Highland Road, Milwaukee, possible internal injuries, and George Amos Grigsby, 56, of Bjorkdale, Sask., cuts on left elbow. Grigsby was treated at Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital and released and Mrs. Drum was kept there yesterday for observation.

Grigsby, driver of one of the cars, told state police here that he stopped on the highway to check tourist cabins. The other vehicle, driven by Gideon Anthony Drum, 49, crashed into the rear of the Grigsby machine. Drum told police that he saw a dim tail-light ahead just before the impact and made an unsuccessful effort to avoid the crash. Both cars were headed west.

Damage to the Drum machine was estimated at $500, to the Grigsby car $400.

Frankalucci. The other Stambaugh player in the background is George Young, big end. On this series of plays St. Joe moved to the Stambaugh 20 yard line before surrendering the ball on downs. The Hilltoppers won 26-0. (Daily Press Photo)

Last Minute Touchdown Gives Broncs 13-6 Win

BARK RIVER—The Bark River Broncs made their first home grid stand a successful one for new coach Tom Janssen by scoring a last-minute touchdown to edge the Rock Little Giants 13-6 yesterday afternoon.

Bark River staged a race against the time clock in the closing minutes of the game. The Broncs held tight as Rock had possession deep in its own territory. The Little Giants were forced to punt and tackle Louie Dubord smashed through to block the kick, the ball rolling out of bounds on the 10.

Three running plays failed to dent the Rock line and on fourth down Bill Good, Bark River quarterback, spotted Wayne Erickson alone in the end zone and fired a fourth-down strike for the deciding touchdown. Good's plunge for the point failed with 40 seconds remaining in the game.

Broncs Score First

Bark River opened scoring in the first period. The Broncs took a Rock punt on their own 40 and Good directed them to the two-yard line from where he plunged for the TD. Good's passes to Erickson, Terry DeLaughter and Leonard Lesnieski powered the drive downfield.

Coach Pete Tinsley's Rock grid-ders snapped back to tie the score in the third period. Bark River was forced to punt, the ball sailing out of bounds on the Bronco 31. Rock used its running attack to power to the three, from where fullback Lewis Kulju rammed over er for the TD. His plunge for the extra point was short and the score was tied at 6-6.

Good was the Bark River offensive standout. He was forced into overtime running duties when Wallen Godlewski was put out of action in the first half. Pete Kasbohm, right guard, was the strong man in the Bark River line, both on offense and defense. Erickson and Lesnieski

Wolverines Work Out In Scrimmage Drills

By JOHN F. MAYHEW

ANN ARBOR — Coach Bennie Oosterbaan took his football squad into huge Michigan Stadium today for the second of three pre-season scrimmages.

The Michigan coach closed the session to all but the press and posted guards at the gates.

Oosterbaan's chief interest is on two problems—the work of sophomore quarterback Louis Baldacci and development of a center to bolster the position in view of a neck injury to regular center Dean Ludwig.

In the center role, the work of Jim Bates and John Morrill will be watched chiefly. Oosterbaan needs a combined center and line-backer. Failing that, he may make Capt. Dick O'Shaughnessy into a center-guard, hoping to find another player who can fit into the line-backing picture.

Castellani Fights Tough Middleweight

CHICAGO — Rocky Castellani, seventh ranking middleweight contender, will face rugged Johnny Lombardo of Mt. Carmel, Pa., in a return bout at Rainbow Arena tonight.

The Luzerne, Pa., native who is now fighting out of Cleveland took a unanimous decision from Lombardo a year ago after being knocked down for an eight count.

Castellani stopped Jackie Keough in his last appearance to register his eighth knockout and 44th victory in 51 starts.

Lombardo has a record of 29 triumphs in 38 fights, 14 by knockouts.

Spartans, Buckeyes Rated Favorites In Big Ten Race

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP) — A crushing new contender, Michigan State which topped the AP's 1952 national poll, and well-manned Ohio State share pre-season favoritism in the Big Ten football race.

It goes without saying, the return of two-way football will keep the coaching noses to the grindstone and mayhaps snarl the chase.

Although Michigan State with 24 straight victories and two successive national titles was voted into the Big Ten on Dec. 13, 1948, it took a five-year span to work the Spartans into the league football schedule.

Spartans Are Hot

Some think the tardiness could have been an effort by conference coaches to wait for MSC to cool off.

But the Spartans are hotter than ever.

This is the year, then, Biggie Munn's MSC gridders take up the void created when the University of Chicago swooned into oblivion after the 1939 season.

Actually, the 1953 title doesn't shape-up as a cake-walk for the Spartans and Ohio's Buckeyes, who have the two best returning quarterbacks — Tom Yewic and Johnny Borton.

Last year's co-champions, Rose Bowl-visiting Wisconsin and Purdue, may snarl plenty and ever-ready Michigan and Minnesota—primed by superb Paul Giel — could rock the conference boat into complete confusion.

Illinois, Northwestern, Iowa and Indiana figure to struggle.

Big Ten Too Tough?

Some cynical conference hard-bucks say that Michigan State, feasting on a hand-picked schedule since zooming into big time, may find a steady diet of Big Ten opposition a different kettle of fish.

The Spartans, who have a splendid pony backfield including Yewic, Leroy Bolden, Billy Wells and Evan Slonac, encounter Iowa, Minnesota, Indiana, Purdue, Ohio State and Michigan in a six-game league slate.

Ohio State Buckeyes, who face Michigan State Nov. 7 at Columbus, have 24 lettermen returning, but only three seniors are on the first team.

Despite the perennial local enthusiasm that launches an Ohio State team, quarterback Borton—a splendid passer and field general—may have to rely upon a stand-out defensive array to offset a running attack.

It should be pointed out that since 1940, the last time a conference coaching staff returned intact, Ohio State has had six different head coaches. Woody Hayes is starting his third season at the Buckeye helm. His followers expect much this fall.

Badgers Lost Haluska

Wisconsin, a 7-0 loser to Southern California in the Rose Bowl, suffered a sharp blow when quarterback Jim Haluska broke a leg this summer. But the Badgers still have fullback Alan (The Horse) Ameche.

Purdue's coach, Stu Holcomb, says his Boilermakers are as good as last season, despite the loss of quarterback Dale Samuels and end Bernie Flowers. Minnesota has 31 lettermen, including All-America halfback Giel, and the Gophers are hungry.

Michigan has a fleet backfield and can be dangerous if sophomore quarterback Lou Baldacci takes holds. Illinois must replace quarterback Tommy O'Connell, who rewrote the Big Ten passing record book last season, and faces a general rebuilding job. Indiana needs terrific help from sophomores to make a showing, while Iowa also must rely on newcomers to aid such fine backs as Dusty Rice and Binkey Broder.

Northwestern has a "pony" backfield behind a fair line. The Wildcats may do all right — as long as they hang onto the ball, letics to a game and a half. The A's lost to Chicago 9-4 last night.

The loss however didn't hurt the Yankees any. Washington whipped second-place Cleveland, 6-4, and thus left the New Yorkers still out front by ten games.

Gray limited the Yankees to six hits, two of them home runs by Joe Collins and Yogi Berra. Detroit managed seven safeties off Allie Reynolds.

Detroit's first two runs came in the fifth on a walk to Bob Nieman, Walt Dropo's single, Steve Souchock's infield out and Johnny Bucha's double.

The loss gave Reynolds an 11-7 record.

Hoefft, who will be opposed by the Jim McDonald (8-6), will be going after his 10th win. He has lost 13,

Billy Hoefft Takes Turn Against Yankees Today

NEW YORK (AP)—Detroit sends lefty Billy Hoefft to the mound today in hopes he can be as successful at cutting down the pennant-bound New York Yankees as lefty Ted Gray was Friday.

Gray managed to toss only two home run balls at the Yankees, then eluded a triple in the top of the 10th and scored on Harvey Kuenn's outfield fly to give himself a 3-2 victory. It was his ninth against 14 losses.

In grabbing the game, the Tigers looked like anything but sixth-placers. And in winning, they increased their margin over the seventh-place Philadelphia Athletics.

Stambaugh Tops St. Joe 26-0

Trojan Fumbles Set Up Scoring For Hilltoppers

A powerful Stambaugh Hilltopper grid team converted three fumbles and a pass interception into touchdowns, one in each period, and defeated the St. Joe Trojans 26-0 before an overflow crowd at Memorial Field last night.

Stambaugh invaded the Trojan gridiron with a high-geared ground game and a polished aerial attack. Coach Tom St. Germain's Trojans were unable to penetrate the hefty Stambaugh line and their air attack failed to dent the Hilltopper defenses.

The Hilltoppers grabbed St. Joe fumbles in the first, second and third quarters, and in each case turned them into touchdowns. In the fourth they swiped a stray St. Joe aerial and again converted it into a scoring play.

Frankalucci Big Gun

Fullback Bob Frankalucci charged up and down the gridiron for Stambaugh, gaining 130 yards. He ran 33 yards to a TD and passed to end George Young for another. Halfback Chuck Greenland accounted for the other two Stambaugh TDs, passing to Young and to Basola for the scores.

St. Joe came out for the second half trailing 14-0 and staged a spirited rally that drove the Hilltoppers back to their own 20 before the Trojans lost the ball on downs. It was the high point of the game for St. Joe and the only time the Trojans were able to generate a scoring threat.

Stambaugh took the opening kickoff and moved across midfield to the St. Joe 14 yard line before a pass from Ray Stefani to Jim Basola was blocked by Trojan Jerry McDonough in the end zone on fourth down.

Fumble Sets Up TD

Three scrimmage plays later Bill Maycunich, Trojan fullback, fumbled and George Young recovered for Stambaugh on the St. Joe 12. St. Joe dug in and pushed Stambaugh back to the 16 from where Frankalucci fired a strike to Young who laterated to Bob Soderbloom on the 10. Soderbloom went over standing up and Chuck Greenland kicked the extra point to give Stambaugh a 7-0 edge.

Maycunich returned the kick 18 yards to his own 32 but the Trojans were forced to punt. John Berrigan booting the ball to Greenland who returned 10 yards to his own 47.

Stambaugh's Stefani was racked hard by Leroy Villeneuve who recovered his fumble on the St. Joe 27. McDonough pegged a pass to Dick Bryson who fumbled and Greenland recovered for Stambaugh on the 33. Frankalucci ripped through the line and raced for a touchdown on the first play from scrimmage. Greenland's place kick made it 14-0.

Trojans Fired Up

St. Joe had possession on their own 40 at the half. McDonough's pass to end Dick Cass was the final play of the second period.

The Trojans came out on the field with new fire in the third period. They received on their 37 with McDonough moving to the 40.

Lancour shot through the line for 15 yards before being hauled down by Frankalucci. McDonough raced wide, laterated to Lancour for nine yards along the right sidelines. Maycunich was dropped for a four-yard loss but a pushing penalty cost the Hilltoppers 15 yards.

Gary Guertin picked up two yards and McDonough's pass to Berrigan added two more. McDonough missed Bryson with a short pass and on fourth down Lancour heaved a long ball to Berrigan in the end zone which was batted down by Frankalucci. The Hilltoppers took over on their own 20.

Stambaugh was held on the ground and forced to punt. But Lancour fumbled on the first scrimmage play and Frankalucci recovered on the St. Joe 41.

Eskymo Bee Gridders Edge Manistique 6-0

MANISTIQUE — Escanaba's junior varsity gridders came out on top of a 6-0 Bee team football battle played here last night in a drizzling rain.

A Manistique fumble on the 16-yard stripe in the second quarter paved the way for Escanaba's lone touchdown. Recovered by Escanaba, the visitors carried the oval to the 8-yard line on an end run, advanced it three more yards on the next play, and then Escanaba's Erickson plunged over for the TD.

The try for extra point was nullified by an Escanaba penalty. Play during the rest of the game was a see-saw affair, with the Escanabans having a little of the best of the ground-gaining action. Because of the rain fumbles were numerous.

Women Bowlers Will Meet Next Wednesday

A meeting of Escanaba women bowlers will be held Wednesday, Sept. 16, at 8 p. m. at the K. C. hall.

Coffee and refreshments will be served and films shown.

Midwest Grid Notes

CHICAGO (AP) — Midwest football briefs.

Indiana — Captain Bob Ingersall has been lost for the season with a kidney ailment probably requiring an operation. His end position will be taken by John Zuger of Minnesota — The Gophers polished plays before scheduling another full scrimmage. A rash of minor injuries has broken out, none serious.

Illinois — Dale Foster, a safety man last year, said he will enter the army this fall instead of returning to school.

Northwestern — Dick Ranick has been promoted from second string right half to the No. 1 team. So has Fred Nosal, Chicago sophomore right guard.

Wisconsin — Ron Roberts, senior guard from Chicago, has rejoined the squad but three halfbacks, two tackles, three guards, one center and three ends are still on the injury list.

Michigan — Captain Dick O'Shaughnessy, switched to guard this year, has been moved to line-backer to spell the injured Dean Ludwig at center.

Iowa — The search for a compass intercepted

With Lancour carrying and passing to McDonough, the Trojans made a first down before McDonough's attempted lateral was fumbled and recovered by Pellizzaro for Stambaugh.

The Hilltoppers were unable to advance past the St. Joe 25 and again the Trojan offense picked up two first downs before McDonough's pass was intercepted by Frankalucci who returned 10 yards to the St. Joe 34.

Two pass completions put the ball on the St. Joe 11 with three minutes remaining in the game. Frankalucci lugged to the five and Greenland flipped to Basola in the end zone for the final Stambaugh touchdown. The placement failed.

Lancour led St. Joe's running game with 44 yards on six trips with the leather. He carried five times in the second half. The loss evened St. Joe's record for the season at 1-1.

ed hard by Leroy Villeneuve who recovered his fumble on the St. Joe. 27. McDonough pegged a pass to Dick Bryson who fumbled and Greenland recovered for Stambaugh on the 33. Frankalucci ripped through the line and raced for a touchdown on the first play from scrimmage. Greenland's place kick made it 14-0.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

New York — Carmine Fiore, 146, Brooklyn, outpointed Danny (Bang Bang) Womber, 148, Chicago, 10.

Fiore Outpoints Bang Bang Womber

NEW YORK (AP)—It broke his heart to give up softball but Carmine Fiore feels the sacrifice was worth it today as he celebrated his fourth straight boxing victory.

The 24-year-old Brooklyn welterweight racked up No. 4 Friday night by outpointing Danny (Bang Bang) Womber of Chicago with a strong finish in a ten rounder at St. Nicholas Arena.

It used to be the other way around for Carmine, a one-time shoe shine boy. Fiore generally fizzled out in the late rounds.

His doctor learned that Fiore was playing softball almost every day. He told the fighter that the ball-playing plus fight training was sapping his strength.

So Fiore gave up his pet sport and started winning.

He swept the last three rounds from Womber and that was it as all three officials voted for the 9-5 underdog by similar 5-4-1 margins. Fiore, who was out-weighted 146 to 148, matched his left hook against Womber's left jabs and combinations and won out.

Milwaukee Can't Read Handwriting On Wall

The handwriting is on the wall but all of a sudden the Milwaukee Braves can't read.

The stubborn Braves still seem to be operating on the theory that the National League pennant race is a two-team affair. And they're ready to smack down any one who says it isn't.

Brooklyn's dashing Dodgers descended upon the brewing center Friday primed to wrap up their second straight flag. They needed just one more victory. The celebration was arranged and the brass flew in from Brooklyn headquarters for the whing-ding. They're still waiting for the party.

10th Inning Homer

Out at Milwaukee's County Stadium Friday night one Andy Pafko made the Dodgers realize that $50,000 was only money. He hit a home run with a man on base in the sixth inning and he won the game for the Braves with a 10th inning homer after two were out. The score was 9-8.

With 13 games to play the Braves now trail the Dodgers by 12. They meet for the final time today.

Pafko was sold by Brooklyn to the Braves for $50,000 during the winter and the Dodger officials went to great pains to advise the fans that Pafko was no longer necessary. Since his departure Brooklyn has used almost every body on the roster in left field.

In the American League the two top teams both lost. The New York Yankees bowed to Detroit 3-2 in 10 innings and Cleveland lost to Washington 6-4. Chicago kept its mathematical pennant chances alive with a 9-4 verdict over Philadelphia.

Loss Of Mays Bad For Giants

CHICAGO (AP)—The way Leo Durocher looks at it, the "most valuable" player on his New York Giants is Willie Mays. But Willie, as they know only too well on Coogan's Bluff, is in the Army.

And that, says Leo, is why the Giants are in fifth place instead of battling Brooklyn for the pennant last spring.

"With Mays we'd have won 20 more ball games," Leo estimates. "There are 20 games I can remember that were lost because he wasn't out there in centerfield."

Twenty more games on the win side would have the Giants right up there. And Charlie Dessen, surveying the National League scene from the top of the pile with his Brooklyn Dodgers, probably would have been less apt to issue his "the Giants is dead" quote.

The Giants without Mays, however, are not only dead, but buried some 32 games behind the Brooks. Their won-lost record is 65-76. Second place Milwaukee is 85-56 with Brooklyn 97-44.

There's always next year, however. And Durocher is looking forward with anticipation. By next spring centerfielder Mays, a 23-year-old Negro who helped the Giants to the pennant in '51 as a rookie, will be out of the Army.

With Mays back, says Leo hopefully, the Giants pitching staff will improve automatically.

Final Stock Car Races Will Be Held On Sunday

Final scheduled stock car races of the summer season will be staged Sunday afternoon at the State Fair track.

Time trials will be held at 1:30 with the first of five races getting the starting flag at 2:30.

The Escanaba Racing Association expects a field of 25 top cars and drivers from Upper Peninsula and Northern Wisconsin to race in the 1953 finale.

Over a dozen racing programs were sponsored by the Association here this year and considerable fan interest has been built up during the summer. Sponsors are expecting a large turnout for the final race events.

The program was changed to Sunday afternoon to avoid the cold night weather which would make it uncomfortable in the stands, a spokesman said.

Among the drivers entered for tomorrow afternoon are John Pieropon of Spalding, Joe Blazek of Escanaba, Bob Higgins of Marquette, Frank and Ted Honkala of Ishpeming, Ken Parthie of Marquette and Len Fluette of Marquette, all heavy winners in past races.

"With Mays we'd have won 20 more ball games," Leo estimates. "There are 20 games I can remember that were lost because he wasn't out there in centerfield."

Twenty more games on the win side would have the Giants right up there. And Charlie Dessen, surveying the National League scene from the top of the pile with his Brooklyn Dodgers, probably would have been less apt to issue his "the Giants is dead" quote.

The Giants without Mays, however, are not only dead, but buried some 32 games behind the Brooks. Their won-lost record is 65-76. Second place Milwaukee is 85-56 with Brooklyn 97-44.

There's always next year, however. And Durocher is looking forward with anticipation. By next spring centerfielder Mays, a 23-year-old Negro who helped the Giants to the pennant in '51 as a rookie, will be out of the Army.

With Mays back, says Leo hopefully, the Giants pitching staff will improve automatically.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

By The Associated Press

New York — Carmine Fiore, 146, Brooklyn, outpointed Danny (Bang Bang) Womber, 148, Chicago, 10.

Fiore Outpoints Bang Bang Womber

NEW YORK (AP)—It broke his heart to give up softball but Carmine Fiore feels the sacrifice was worth it today as he celebrated his fourth straight boxing victory.

The 24-year-old Brooklyn welterweight racked up No. 4 Friday night by outpointing Danny (Bang Bang) Womber of Chicago with a strong finish in a ten rounder at St. Nicholas Arena.

It used to be the other way around for Carmine, a one-time shoe shine boy. Fiore generally fizzled out in the late rounds.

His doctor learned that Fiore was playing softball almost every day. He told the fighter that the ball-playing plus fight training was sapping his strength.

So Fiore gave up his pet sport and started winning.

He swept the last three rounds from Womber and that was it as all three officials voted for the 9-5 underdog by similar 5-4-1 margins. Fiore, who was out-weighted 146 to 148, matched his left hook against Womber's left jabs and combinations and won out.

Milwaukee Can't Read Handwriting On Wall

By BEN PHILEGAR

AP Sports Writer

The handwriting is on the wall but all of a sudden the Milwaukee Braves can't read.

The stubborn Braves still seem to be operating on the theory that the National League pennant race is a two-team affair.

Prices Are Rising Fast In Yugoslavia

BELGRADE (AP)—Prices are shooting up in Yugoslavia, partly as a result of last year's severe drought, partly because cold weather and heavy rains have delayed seasonal crops this year.

During the winter, widespread slaughter of livestock because of the lack of fodder brought meat prices down. With spring, the process was reversed as the farmers turned their livestock out to pasture. Meat prices have almost doubled and are still increasing.

A prospective bumper wheat harvest may bring prices down.

New Zealand Builds Throne For Elizabeth

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP)—Two thrones are being built for Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh for the day the Queen opens a special session of the New Zealand Parliament in Wellington Jan. 12.

The thrones will be about the same size, although the designs will differ slightly. The throne for the duke will be on the same level, but will be placed a little behind that of Queen Elizabeth.

Weather Erases Corn Surplus

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hot dry weather during August kept the vital corn crop from moving into a surplus supply class along with wheat, cotton, tobacco, and peanuts requiring rigid federal controls to cut back production next year.

An Agriculture Department crop report Thursday trimmed 114 million bushels, or about 3½ per cent off the agency's previous forecast for corn, the major grain seed in the production of meat animals, milk and poultry.

This reduction, putting corn at 3,216,000,000 bushels, kept supplies of the grain below a level which, under farm law, would have required Secretary of Agriculture Benson to invoke rigid marketing quotas on the 1954 crop.

Quotas already have been set up for wheat and tobacco and appear likely for cotton and peanuts.

Sky-Gazers Predict Williams Will Run For Senate In 1954

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING (AP)—Capitol sky-gazers are becoming more and more convinced that Gov. Williams intends to run for the United States Senate in 1954, rather than seek a fourth term as governor.

Of course, a lot of time and many events lie ahead which might change the decision, but that's the way it looks to the insiders now.

If it works out that way, the 1954 campaign should be a bustling one.

It'll then be Williams against the incumbent Senator Homer Ferguson and a real battle at the polls.

Keeps Them Guessing

Williams has been doing his best to keep the outside world guessing as to his real intentions. That's smart politics.

The moment the Republicans know what he intends to do they can begin to slant their fire one way. And Williams opponents in the Democratic ranks will know where to concentrate their fire, too.

So don't expect the governor to make any definite public statements about his plans for a long time yet. He has almost a year in which to keep the enemy on the edge of his chair.

The gossip in Democratic circles is that many of the party loyalists are cold to supporting the governor for a fourth term.

They apparently realize the odds against such a campaign. No man has ever served Michigan as governor four times in a row. People get tired of a face after a while even when they like it. And Williams has never won the governorship by any sizable margin.

There probably are some of Williams "egghead" friends who want him to attempt the virtual impossible on the theory that then he would be in a good position to seek the presidency in 1956, the next big year of decision.

Chance For Brake

These, however, overlook the fact that Southern Democratic leaders would give their eye teeth to cut Williams down at a national convention. They haven't forgotten his part in the anti-South "loyalty" fight at the 1952 convention.

The harder heads in the party think that Ferguson is vulnerable. If so, a victory in 1954 would put Williams out on the national political stage and in position to seize the opportunities of the future.

A decision by Williams to abandon the governorship would have tremendous effect on Michigan politics, both Republican and Democrat.

For one thing, it probably would enhance the chances of State Treasurer D. Hale Brake getting the GOP nomination for governor.

The rank-and-file Republican organization would like Brake for governor, but there seems to be some hesitation based on the fear that he could not beat Williams.

Brake is something of the Taft of the Michigan GOP. The regulars lean to him, but might drop him in favor of a more glamorous candidate.

If Williams goes for the Senate, there is growing gossip that former U. S. Senator Prentiss M. Brown, now chairman of the board of Detroit Edison, might be brought in as the Democratic candidate for governor.

Wm. Marquette Takes Pension

William Marquette, roadmaster for the Gladstone Division of the Soo Line Railroad, retired recently following 35 years of service and has applied for pension under the National Railroad Retirement Act.

Marquette was section foreman at New Effington, S. D., from July 1, 1918 to Feb. 22, 1926. He was elevated to roadmaster at that time and his first post was with the Fordville Drake line with headquarters at Devils Lake, N. D., from there he went to Thief River Falls, Minn., in August of 1930 and two years later came to Gladstone where he has served since.

His first work with a railroad was for the Great Northern on the Sioux City Division as a laborer and section foreman in 1913. He later went to Fairmont and Vahlen Railroad Co., as construction foreman and served later as section foreman until the company was taken over by the Soo Line.

Marquette was born in Hankinson, N. D., August 28, 1888.

In the family are his wife, Petra, and four sons: namely, Earl Marquette, Berkeley, Calif., engineer on the Southern Pacific; Eugene R. Marquette, roadmaster for the Soo Line at Moose Lake, Minn.; William Marquette, expediter for the Harnischfeger Corp., Escanaba, and Ralph Marquette, assistant manager Farmers Co-op Creamery Co., Glenwood, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. Marquette moved to Glenwood, Minn., shortly after his retirement where they reside at 515 N. State St. Shortly after going there he underwent surgery but is recovering nicely.

Health permitting, Marquette plans to pursue his old hobby of hunting in his leisure time.
